Seven-Billion Aid Bill May Be Ready For House Tuesday, Rayburn Reports; Weekly Tax on Wages May Be Proposed

Group Asks Mediation Unit in U. S.

Secretary Perkins and Others Make Recommendation for Board on Labor Problems

Bid Is Refused

Soft Coal Operators Say 'No' to C. I. O. Demand in New York

(By The Associated Press)

A specific recommendation for a mediation board to handle labor problems related to defense production was laid before President Roosevelt today by Secretary Perkins and the directors of the office for production management, William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman.

Miss Perkins told reporters afterward that the idea of such a board was taking "definite" shape. Hillman said several propositions were under consideration but that the conference had not touched on names of prospective board members.

"Several things were discussed, but what eventually will materialize is up to the President," Hillman said. "We agreed on one plan which we presented to him."

Another major development today, in New York, was rejection by the nation's soft coal operators of C. I. O. Union demands for a blanket $1-a-day wage increase. The operators proposed that the present contract, which covers 450,000 miners, be extended another two years.

The present contract, expiring March 31, provides $6 a day for miners in the north and $5.60 in the south.

Plant Is Idle

The big Aluminum Company of America plant at Edgewater, N. J., which had been operating seven days a week on aluminum airplane parts, was stilled by a strike early yesterday. Three thousand workers were affected. C. I. O. Union leaders contended the company had violated Sunday and holiday overtime pay provisions of a 1939 labor contract.

Also idle was the Labelle works of the Crucible Steel Company at Pittsburgh. Officials of the company, which employs about 900 men, declared C. I. O. steel workers had called an "unauthorized strike." Union headquarters declined to comment, but pickets yesterday morning began stopping workmen who did not have paid up union cards. The firm has defense orders for small arms parts.

Two other strikes of metal workers were in progress at Bridgeville, Pa.

Four hundred employes of the Vanadium Corporation walked out four weeks ago in protest, they said, to the company's action in ignoring unemployed union members in hiring six plant guards.

At the Universal-Cyclops Steel Company, 1,050 men have been out since February 20, claiming their wages were 30 per cent under the rate paid by other similar concerns.

Plans Conferences

At Milwaukee, where a C. I. O.-called strike against the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company was in its eighth week, John R. Steelman, chief of the U. S. Conciliation service, planned separate conferences with union and company officials. The strike, which involves the question of union recognition, has held up work on $45,000,000 in national defense orders.

Three dozen union carpenters ceased work on buildings at a $5,000,000 army air corps base near Everett, Wash., yesterday in protest to delivery of lumber from a mill which A. F. L. officials called "unfair." About 75 other building trades workmen also were affected by the work stoppage.

New York's Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia appeared hopeful of an early settlement of the bus strike which has stalled 95 per cent of Manhattan's surface transportation for three days. He indicated both sides had agreed to mediation efforts. Bigger pay and shorter hours are included in the C. I. O. Transport Workers Union demands.

Another strike remained in progress at the J. G. Brill Company plant in Philadelphia, which has orders for artillery mounts. C. I. O. employes walked out Monday after negotiations for a new wage agreement collapsed.

Rains Are Back

Los Angeles, March 13 (AP)—The rains are back again, after a few days of sunshine, setting new storm records for Southern California. Rain which set in yesterday and continued today established a 51-year record in Los Angeles with a total precipitation for the season starting July 1, 1940, of 26.31 inches.

Explosions Are Heard

Dover, England, March 13 (AP)—The rumble of heavy explosions from the direction of the French coast was heard on the British side of the Dover Strait late this morning, indicating British bombers possibly were attacking German-occupied territory.

U. S. May Take Over Anglo Plants, Orders

Washington, March 13 (AP).—A high administration official disclosed today that the army and reconstruction finance corporation were negotiating to take over between $300,000,000 and $350,000,000 worth of British war contracts and factories in this country.

The official, who declined to be quoted by name but spoke to reporters in order, he said, to clear up some misapprehensions about what was happening, said the program "in no way means that the British will be relieved of the remainder of their obligations in this country."

Hitler Forecasts Tremendous Nazi Victory in Europe

Fuehrer Declares at Linz That Successes Will Be Great, Germany Will Be Greater

Linz, Germany, March 13 (AP)—A prediction by Adolf Hitler that the war will end with a tremendous Nazi victory insuring plans for "a greater Germany" sounded the keynote for ceremonies today commemorating the third anniversary of the union of his native Austria with the Reich.

The fuehrer made the prediction in an unheralded speech as he arrived here last night to take part in the celebration.

Recalling the "tremendous success" Germany achieved in the war of 1870, Hitler declared "the end of today's struggle will not differ a hair's breadth."

"The hour of our final victory will come," he said, "whereupon we will develop very thoroughly the plans we have made.

"Then we will work harder and more and more to give the greater Reich the character of a nation of endeavor, the character of strong social community life. . . .

"We Bow to No One"

"We are not obligated to any class, or to any group, and we bow to no human being. Before us is the recognition of the German people, before us is a greater Germany."

Hitler spoke in a hall near the railway station to an audience which Germans estimated at 40,000.

For the most part Hitler confined his remarks to reminiscences of the anschluss, which he said had greatly benefitted the Ostmark (former Austria), and to praising the Austrian people.

"A little over a year ago," the fuehrer said, "Churchill (British prime minister) was not quite clear about the firmness of the people of my home (Austria).

"I assured him then I hoped the time would soon come when he could inform himself better. This time has arrived. England got the lesson, and I have not the impression that the firmness of the British brigades was greater than those of the Ostmark battalions in Norway and France."

Speaking at Linz earlier yesterday, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels asserted that Germany was winning in the war "the place in the sun which the world of plutocracy so long denied her."

He described the conflict as "a class battle between the rich and poor nations" which, he said, Britain already has lost.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 13 (AP)—The position of the Treasury March 11: Receipts $24,928,984.16. Expenditures $23,966,895.44 Net balance $1,703,033,047.05. Working balance included $959,130,700.00. Customs receipts for month $13,595,260.35. Receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $4,095,910,707.33. Expenditures $7,842,601,810.40. Excess of expenditures $3,746,691,103.07. Gross debt $46,276,924,102.05. Increase over previous day $2,516,966.98. Gold assets $22,317,520,175.88.

R. A. F. Hits At 3 Cities In Germany

Heaviest Raid Reported Upon Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen; 16 Die in Berlin

Moon Aids Fliers

British Airmen Aided by Bright Moonlight Over Germany

(By The Associated Press)

British R.A.F. bombers smashed at Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen "in the heaviest raid yet launched on Germany," it was officially announced in London today.

Berlin listed 16 killed and 37 wounded as R.A.F. bombs shattered an 82-day period of immunity from aerial attack enjoyed by the German capital. The last raid on Berlin was December 22.

Three others were killed and three wounded at Bremen.

The British disclosed that "several new and more powerful types" of R.A.F. planes were unleashed in night forays extending "from Berlin to Boulogne and Norway."

London's air ministry said that the new planes carried "very heavy bombs" and that the attacks were "very successful." Bright moonlight helped define targets.

It was believed the new types may have included four-motored American-made bombers flown across the Atlantic by the British.

Huge Fires Set

The British said that huge fires were set in Berlin, too, and that the industrial area of Bremen was set "well alight."

Heavy explosions rumbling across the channel this morning indicated that R.A.F. bombers were following up the night raids with assaults on the German-occupied "invasion coast."

On the Albanian war front, the Greeks quoted Italian prisoners as saying that Premier Mussolini was now in the field and had given his generals until Saturday to "do something."

A Greek spokesman said Il Duce had personally ordered the recent fierce Italian attacks on the central front, in the Tepeleni sector, which the spokesman said had been repulsed in four days of bloody fighting.

At sea, the British reported an R.A.F. plane torpedoed a German destroyer in the Skagerrak, gateway between the Baltic and North Seas, hitting the stern with an explosive flash "as big as a house." The plane's crew said it was too dark to see whether the German warship sank, but that she ceased firing.

Hitler's high command countered with a report that a Nazi speedboat sank a British destroyer off the English southeast coast.

Fuehrer Hitler keynoted a Nazi celebration commemorating the third anniversary of the union of his native Austria with the Reich by predicting, in a speech at Linz, that the war would end in a tremendous German victory insuring development of "a greater Germany."

In the African war theatre, Britain's middle east command said British troops were continuing to mop up "in all sectors" of Italian Somaliland. In Libya, Eritrea, and Ethiopia, the British said there was nothing if importance to report.

The Balkan situation remained tense, with 500,000 German troops awaiting Hitler's go-ahead signal on the Greek and Turkish frontiers, while Yugoslavia leaned with apparent reluctance toward the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis.

The Turkish government newspaper Ulus declared Turkey's defenses were "adequate in the face of all eventualities" and urged public to remain calm.

Germans Say Liverpool Raid More Destructive Than That Upon Coventry

Berlin, March 13 (AP)—Destruction "exceeding that at Coventry" was reported by German sources today to have been wrought in a vast night raid on Liverpool, in which they said several hundred planes dropped bombs for hours.

This attack was carried out as the British Royal Air Force, also taking advantage of improving weather, made its first assaults on Berlin in 82 nights.

Sixteen persons were killed and 37 injured in Berlin, informed persons said, and other damage was inflicted at Bremen and Hamburg, two of Germany's chief ports.

The high command said the attack on the Liverpool area was carried out by several hundred planes in waves, and DNB, official news agency, said returning crewmen declared the devastation was worse than at Coventry, the midlands industrial town which was virtually razed the night of Nov. 14.

"Hell broke loose on the Mersey," one pilot reported, describing an "ocean of flames" visible 25-minutes flight away from the scene.

Another observer declared 10,000 explosives and incendiary bombs were dropped, many ships in the harbor were damaged, and huge losses were inflicted especially among grain elevators and storehouses.

Thirteen British planes were said by the high command to have been shot down, ten of them in the attacks on Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen.

"Only residence sections, hospitals and a church" were listed as damaged. Military and industrial objectives escaped for the most part, it was declared. The many fires were extinguished quickly and night fighters and anti-aircraft guns often forced the British to dump their bombs prematurely, the Germans said.

Plan Would Take Sum From Pay Envelope Each Week of Many Jobholders

Might Not Come

Idea Is in Discussion Stage Only; Would Raise 3½ Billions

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Congressional fiscal experts, casting about for new revenue sources to help pay for the $7,000,000,000 British aid program, were reported considering today the possibility of imposing a 5 per cent tax on the weekly pay of most of the nation's workers.

If such a 5 per cent "earned income" tax, should be levied, that amount would be deducted for the government each week from the pay envelopes of a large proportion of jobholders. Thus a worker now receiving $40 weekly would get, instead, $38 and a tax receipt for $2. Small wage earners—possibly those receiving $25 weekly or less—would be exempted.

Although it was emphasized that this proposal was merely in the discussion stage and might never mature, responsible individuals who have been studying the plan said they had received estimates that a 5 per cent levy of this nature would raise $3,500,000,000 yearly.

Acknowledging that the proposal might arouse a storm of protest from wage earners, advocates said it would have to be accompanied by commensurate increases in taxes upon incomes from investments, rentals and other sources so that there could be no discrimination.

It would entail, they pointed out also, a reversal of previous administration policy of easing taxes on wage earners as much as possible and for that reason was expected to elicit little support at the treasury or White House.

Against this suggestion for an invasion of a new field of revenue, Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.) of the Senate finance committee told reporters that he personally felt that present taxes should be revised upward without attempting to bring in untried levies.

Estimating that congress might be asked to provide an additional $1,500,000,000 in new revenue this session, Harrison said he felt there might be some justifiable increases in excess profits levies and normal corporation tax, as long as rates were not boosted so high that they would hurt business and result in reduced, rather than boosted, revenues.

F.D.R. 'Freezes' Hungary's Cash

Action Is Taken at Request of State Department; No Reasons Given

Washington, March 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt today "froze" all funds of Hungary in the United States and Secretary Hull explained shortly thereafter that Hungary was considered by this government to be under German domination.

Hull asserted that the United States put Hungary in the same category as Rumania and other countries under domination of the Reich and against which freezing orders previously were issued.

The action on Hungarian funds, the secretary of state added, might have been taken at an earlier date and there was no particular developments which caused the order to be issued today.

Act Is Requested

Washington, March 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt today "froze" all funds of Hungary in the United States.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said that the President and the treasury acted at the request of the state department, but declined to discuss the reasons.

Hungary, the 12th nation whose funds have been frozen, signed the Axis pact about two months ago. Customarily such freezing orders have been issued when nations were occupied by troops of another country.

Morgenthau declined to say whether the action meant that the United States now considered occupied by German troops.

The freezing order, as in past cases, prohibited the removal, transfer or use of any Hungarian cash, precious metals, or other negotiable assets from the United States, except upon obtaining per-

Buckingham Palace Bombed Again

Again the target of Nazi aerial raiders, Buckingham Palace in London, official residence of the king and queen, suffered damage in a recent attack, apparently the week-end of March 8. This cablephoto from London shows the wreck of a lodge on the palace grounds, with a wrecking crew at work. A policeman died in the bombing.

Navy Program Is To Be Greatest in Nation's History

Rear Admiral Robinson Says by Summer Combat Shipbuilding Will Be Well Underway

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Congress learned that by summer the navy will have the largest combat shipbuilding program in the nation's history.

This statement came from Rear Armiral S. M. Robinson, chief of the navy department's bureau of ships during testimony made public by the House appropriations committee on next year's supply bill.

Naval experts gave the committee these statistics on efforts to increase the nation's naval forces as soon as possible:

Expenditures on construction alone rose from $2,550,000 monthly in 1932 to $49,000,000 last December and Robinson said the department is working to a "monthly rate in excess of $100,000,000 just as fast as we can."

Total expenditure of $9,600,257,414 will be required to complete a program of bringing the fleet to a total of 884 ships, including patrol and district craft; with $5,553,976,000 remaining to be appropriated.

Ahead of Schedule

Without exception, every combatant ship now under construction will be completed ahead of schedule.

Although experts estimated last year that $728,000,000 would be required to complete a certain group of 68 ships, made up of aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines, it is now found that they will cost $837,674,000. The increase arose from design changes and the fact "full cognizance was not taken" originally of "changed conditions."

Alterations and improvements to existing ships will cost $484,160,000.

On February 3, 1941, the bureau of ships had acquired 161 commercial vessels for various purposes at a cost of $85,483,970 and had spent $76,176,482 to convert them to naval purposes—a total of $161,660,452.

The navy will have 3,678 airplanes on hand July 1, with 7,471 scheduled to be available on July 1, 1942. Last February 1, the navy had 2,457 planes on hand and 6,204 on order.

Music War May End

New York, March 13 (AP)—The radio music war between the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers and the National Association of Broadcasters appeared today to be nearing an end. Indication that the 2½-month-old controversey might soon be ironed out came from Neville Miller, president of the Broadcasters group, who said yesterday his directors would meet Monday to consider an A.S.C.A.P. request for a conference "to assist in formulating a proposal for submission to broadcasters."

Navy Urges Quick Work On Two-Ocean Fleet

High Command Warns Congress International Situation May Grow Worse; Asks for Full Power

Washington, March 12 (AP).—The navy high command, warning congress that the international situation "may continue to grow worse for some time to come," urged today that completion of the two-ocean navy be rushed because of the potential superior strength of the combined Axis fleets.

Secretary Knox told the house appropriations committee during testimony made public tooday on the navy's supply bill for the coming fiscal year that the German, Italian and Japanese fleets comprised 1,835,000 tons on January 1, compared with this counry's 1,250,000 tons. Acquisition of the French fleet would swell the Axis stregth further.

Asserting that major units of the two-ocean fleet now under construction would not be completed until 1946-47, Knox said that in the meantime the United States was confronted with these two possible developments:

The defeat of Great Britain in the near future, leaving us to face the united strength of the axis powers on a two-ocean front."

x x x the posibility of Japan becoming active participant as a belligerent in the Far East on the side of the axis.

"It is obviously to our interest to prevent either of these possibilities from becoming realities as it is probable they would result in the United States becoming involved in a war," the policy of aiding Britain, he added, was a major step toward meeting the problem.

'No One Can Predict'

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, reminded the committee that while "no one can predict with accuracy the turn of

Woodstock Awaits Rabies Quarantine

Meanwhile Dr. Cohn Asks Voluntary Observance of State's Law

While no quarantine of dogs has been placed in effect in the town of Woodstock, all dog owners are being asked by the town health officials to voluntarily take steps to protect their dogs and dogs of others by observing a voluntary quarantine as a result of a case of rabies which was discovered in Woodstock recently.

Sunday a dog of Joseph Fitzsimmons died and it was suspected the animal had been suffering from radies. Dr. Hans J. Cohn, town health officer, had the head of the animal sent to Albany and word was received that the animal had died from the disease.

Pending official word from the State Health Department which will impose a quarantine on the town and compel all dog owners

Marsh Appeals for Double Vigilance To Protect American Press Freedom

Boston, March 13 (AP)—President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University, asserting "certain harsh judgments" had been passed on the press by high Washington officials, appealed today for doubled vigilance to preserve freedom of the press.

He sounded his call in a prepared address before conferring honorary degrees on eight American journalistic leaders in conjunction with the university's 11th Founders' Day convocation, which commemorated the principles of freedom of the press in America.

"The fact that so many persons sense the present necessity of re-emphasizing the importance of freedom of the press is in itself alarming," Dr. Marsh said. He added:

"Certain harsh judgments passed upon the public press by persons high in the present government at Washington—both in the legislative and the executive branches of that government—warrant our being doubly on guard in this era of war psychosis, mass hysteria and contagious totalitarianism."

The eight men receiving honorary degrees are:

Henry Robinson Luce, of Stamford, Conn., editor and publisher of Time, Life and Fortune magazines; Herbert Sebastian Agar, editor of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier Journal; John Cowles, president and editor of the Minneapolis (Minn.) Star Journal; Arthur T. Robb of New York, editor of Editor and Publisher magazine; Professor Zechariah Chaffee, Jr., of the Harvard Law School, author of the book "Freedom of Speech"; Frank Luther Mott, professor of journalism at the University of Iowa and 1939 Pulitzer prize winner in history; Joy Elmer Morgan, editor of the National Education Association's "Journal of Education" in Washington, D. C., and Lewis Oliver Hartman, of Newton, editor of Zion's Herald, independent Methodist weekly.

Efforts Will Be Made to Pass Measure on Same Day; Purpose of Bill Cited

Hull Testifies

Secretary of State Is One of Officials Who Testifies Secretly

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn told his press conference today it was planned to have the $7,000,000,000 British-aid appropriation bill ready for the House on Tuesday and that efforts would be made to pass it the same day.

A short time before a House appropriations sub-committee was to start brief, secret hearings on the huge measure, acting Chairman Woodrum (D., Va.) told newsmen he hoped to conclude the testimony late tomorrow.

"The time has come for action," the Virginian said. "There's been enough talk."

Although the magnitude of the aid program was enormous, its announcement created few ripples on Capitol Hill. One informed legislator said that the size of President Roosevelt's request had a definite purpose—"to demonstrate that Uncle Sam means business."

This congressman, who participated in the conferences at which the request was drafted, reported that originally the plans were to ask only about half the present amount in cash and the other half in authorizations. Subsequently, however, it was decided to seek the full $7,000,000,000 in cash, he said, because of the psychological effect that might have on the Axis powers.

Hull Testifies

Secretary Hull was the first on the list of high administration officials called before the House appropriations sub-committee for brief, secret testimony. Rep. Woodrum (D., Va.), the acting chairman, said the state department head would be followed by Secretaries Morgenthau, Stimson, Knox; Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations and William S. Knudsen, defense production chief.

Woodrum said he planned to close the hearings Saturday, if possible, so as to bring the bill to the House floor for debate early next week.

"There's been enough delay and debate," the tall Virginian declared, speaking of two months it took to pass the British aid bill.

Woodrum anticipated little disposition to trim the British-aid fund, despite its huge size.

Discussing plans for the hearing, he said:

"We will go into the international picture briefly with Secretary Hull, and will try to find out from the army and navy people what weapons and other items of equipment they may be able to spare."

The details would be carefully guarded, Woodrum said, and little will be made public at least until such disclosures would have no military significance.

Experts Get Busy

Shortly after President Roosevelt's letter to Speaker Rayburn reached the capitol yesterday asking for "immediate enactment" of the appropriation so as to make this nation "an adequate arsenal of democracy" and "the source of the tools of defense for all democracies who are fighting to preserve themselves against aggression," legislative experts began whipping the measure into shape.

As the committee prepared to begin its deliberations, there was talk that President Roosevelt might make some dramatic effort to accelerate the nation's industrial machinery and get faster production for the aid program.

Woodrum said he had heard nothing specific along such lines but commented that was "the whole objective of the $7,000,000,000 program—to get American industry producing 100 percent."

It was suggested in some quarters the Chief Executive might appeal for such a speed-up in a "fireside chat" or that he might call for lengthening of the work week in some industries. Defense chiefs have said all along, however, that "bottleneck" industries already are on a 24-hour basis.

Expansion Continues

Albany, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—Continued expansion at plants with defense orders and exceptionally large seasonal gains at clothing and millinery shops boosted New York state factory employment 2.8 per cent in February, the state Labor Department reported today. Payrolls rose 3.9 per cent. The average gain for the month the past 26 years is 1.5 per cent in employment and 1.4 per cent in payrolls.

Make More Plans On Soil Districts

Eight Counties Exchange Ideas and Reports

Ithaca, N. Y., March 13—Progress reports, and an exchange of ideas and plans, were made by representatives of eight counties in which soil conservation districts have been formed, at a meeting at Cornell University. A ninth county was not represented.

Schoharie, Seneca, Ontario, Wyoming, Madison, Chenango, Oneida, and Schuyler counties were represented by directors of the districts. In addition, Chenango county sent five members of the county board of supervisors. Some sixty persons attended.

Much discussion centered on the use of town and county equipment on farms for the control of soil erosion. The equipment can be legally rented by these districts. Cooperative agreements between farmers and districts came in for attention, and compensation insurance for operators of heavy equipment as a responsibility of the towns was considered.

No immediate formation of additional soil districts in other counties is expected at the present time. The policy has been to proceed slowly until matters of technical help, equipment, and relations with various Federal and state agencies have been worked out. A county soil conservation district is eligible to receive help in erosion-control and conservation measures from the Federal soil conservation service.

Adopt Work Plans

It was reported that six of the nine counties have already adopted plans of work and will start operations in the near future. Schoharie, the first county in the state to become a soil conservation district, is the fartherest along at this time, it was announced.

Dr. John Paul Jones, northeastern director of the S.C.S., praised the district directors on the way the work was progressing in the state under the guidance of local people, as did Dean Carl E. Ladd of the college of agriculture at Cornell. Director of Extension L. R. Simons pointed out that the extension service of the college has extended its help from the start.

The need for cooperation of about 100 farmers who live in different parts of each county was suggested as a goal for 1941 by Professor L. D. Kelsey, executive secretary of the state soil conservation committee. With such help, he said, "we'll know better what can be done about erosion control in 1942."

Another likelihood discussed was the cooperation of different county districts on problems which have no regard for county lines.

Play to Be Presented By West Hurley Group

The P. U. G. S. Girls Club and the boy's basketball team of West Hurley will present their annual play, "Sara Sees It Through," Monday evening, March 17, at 8:15 o'clock, in the West Hurley Methodist church hall.

Those taking part are: Alfred Nussbaum, Donald Rice, Robert Nussbaum, Clarence Ostrander, Jr., Betty Van Wagenen, June Stoutenburgh, Dorothy Joyce, Phyllis Ostrander, Janice Joyce, Phyllis Van Wagenen, Inez Van Nostrand.

During intermissions, piano and vocal selections will be given by members of the cast.

The play is under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence E. Joyce.

The current issue contains articles on George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and St. Valentine's Day.

William Deyo assisted local neighbors in shoveling snow.

A letter received by Mrs. Emerick from her sister at Daytona Beach, Fla., says Sunday, March 9, the thermometer registered 47 degrees. People wore fur coats to church, she wrote.

The rate of increase in population during the decade 1930-1940 was less than half that shown in any previous decade since the first census in 1790. The greatest rate of growth, 36.4 per cent, was in the decade ending with 1810. The rate for the last decade was 7.2 per cent.

Plan School for Extension Workers

Cornell Offers Summer Courses for Workers

Ithaca, N. Y., March 13—For the first time in several years, the New York state colleges of agriculture and home economics at Cornell University are offering a special summer school for extension workers.

The school will be for three weeks, from July 7 to 25, and six courses are available. Extension workers, such as county agricultural, home demonstration, 4-H club agents, and others from many states are expected. The studies are intended to supplement the workers' professional training, especially in subjects they were unable to take in college.

The courses and staff: objectives and program of extension work, by Dean A. L. Deering of the University of Maine; psychology for extension workers, by Professor P. J. Kruse of Cornell; the meaning and problems of democracy, by Dr. M. L. Wilson, director of extension of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, John W. Herring of the New York State Education Department, and Thomas S. Barclay of Leland Stanford University.

Also, land use and agricultural planning, by Professor F. F. Hill of Cornell; rural community organization, by Professor Dwight Sanderson of Cornell; and problems of farm families as a basis for programs, by members of the New York state colleges of agriculture and home economics under direction of Grace Henderson.

A complete announcement of the courses may be obtained from the Director of the Summer Session, Plant Science Building, Cornell University, Ithaca.

Huge Fighting Ship Ready Soon

35,000-Ton North Carolina First Battleship Added In Twenty Years.

WASHINGTON.—The North Carolina, first battleship to be built for the United States navy in 20 years, will go into commission April 11.

The most powerful fighting ship in the world, according to navy officials, she will join the battle line this summer under command of Capt. Olaf Hustvedt.

No announcement of her assignment has been made, but it is believed she will go to the Pacific and may become the flagship of the United States fleet.

The North Carolina was built at the New York navy yard. The Washington, a sister ship, is nearing completion at the Philadelphia navy yard. The speed of each ship is expected to exceed 28 knots. Each will carry nine 16-inch guns able to fire 10,000-pound shells more than 25,000 yards.

Many Experts Engaged.

The North Carolina was launched June 13 and is being completed about five months ahead of time. She is the result of more than 140 separate battleship designs, in the working out of which from 40 to 70 naval design experts were engaged.

The designing covered 19 years and included studies of every type of battleship, its hull, super-structure, fire control, cruising radius, power, speed, gun power, anti-aircraft protection, etc.

The outcome, in the opinion of naval construction experts, is the best battle unit, offensively and defensively, built up to the present time. Larger ships, embodying many improvements, are under construction for the navy, but it will be two or three years before the first is ready to join the fleet.

The North Carolina is one of six sister ships each of 35,000 tons and each having as a main battery nine 16-inch guns. The Massachusetts, Indiana and South Dakota will be launched this year and the Alabama early in 1942.

Fourth of Name.

The North Carolina is the fourth American combat ship to bear the name of the Tar Heel state. The first was a ship of the line of 2,633 tons, mounting 74 guns, launched at Philadelphia in September, 1820. This ship was the flagship of the United States squadron in the Mediterranean from 1825 to 1827 and continued in commission until 1866. She was sold in 1867.

The second North Carolina was an armored cruiser of 14,500 tons and was a unit of the fleet from 1906 until scrapped in 1930. In the first World war she was in the overseas transport service.

Her name was changed to the Charlotte in 1920 and the name North Carolina assigned to one of the six battleships then under construction. When the naval limitation-of-armament treaty was ratified the first battleship North Carolina was scrapped along with her sister ships and a squadron of battle cruisers.

Gold in Doodle-Bug but Not in an Agent's Heart

KANSAS CITY, MO.—A real estate agent was amazed recently to find a hole, 15 feet wide and 25 feet deep, dug through the floor of a room in an old mansion.

Two roomers in the house, a man and a woman, told him that they were digging for gold, with the aid of a "doodle-bug."

When held over the hole, the "doodle-bug"—a glass jar suspended on a string from a magnet—swung in a circle. This was a sure indication that there was gold underneath, according to the pair.

"You see, you just put in the jar something made of the mineral you wish to find," the real estate agent was told. The couple had a gold wedding ring and chain in the jar.

"We had only a few feet to go," the woman said. "Let us finish and we'll turn the gold over to the owner of the house."

However, the agent decided that there had been enough excavating and ordered the hole filled up.

Boy's Toy Balloon Travels 500 Miles

HERRIN, ILL.—Ernie Garrison, 14-year-old Herrin high school student, learned to make hydrogen gas and filled a toy balloon with it, attached a note giving his home address and released his frail craft.

Three months later, the note was returned from Roswell, Ga., 500 miles away, by H. Oliver.

Dog Diplomat Demonstrates

New York— Magistrate Joseph C. H. Flynn decided to settle a dispute over ownership of a dog by the time-honored method of having each claimant call the dog in the courtroom. The brown cocker spaniel rushed enthusiastically across the courtroom in response to calls from both claimats. "Hey, you!" shouted Magistrate Flynn. The spaniel leaped up and licked his face.

Man's New Lake

Soon the 151 miles of the upper Columbia river from the dam at Grand Coulee to the Canadian boundary will be the third largest reservoir of water in the United States. Behind the dam a maximum of 9,517,000 acre feet of water can be stored. During this year's freshets the lake created by the dam extended approximately 100 miles, with 2,590,000 acre feet impounded.

The effect of this man-made lake on the Inland Empire is going to be interesting to behold. Besides supplying the energy to generate a large amount of electricity at the dam, adequate water for irrigating hundreds of thousands of acres will be available. But in addition, the presence of a constant body of water 151 miles in length should have some effect upon the climate in the immediate region.

Wishful Thinking

Nearly all great enterprises originate in wishful thinking. The genius, the creator, or the builder lives by trying to carry out his original wishful thinking. The transcontinental railroads were all started on wishful thinking. Even the scientist, who is supposed to live in an emotional vacuum, gets his clues, hints and hunches from wishful thinking. Without a lot of wishful thinking followed by self-control, in testing out your wishes we soon become stick-in-the-muds.

The Kiawawa Indians of northern Mississippi were forbidden by their religion to eat meat or fish they themselves had caught. So they hired neighboring tribes to hunt for them or traded catches.

Navy Urges Quick Work on Fleet

events," requests undoubtedly arise in excess of the $3,358,732,186 sought to carry on the huge naval expansion program during the year starting July 1.

The two appealed before the committee personally February 3. Their testimony, and that of others, was turned over to Congress today with the committee's report on the bill.

The committee heard testimony that the navy has developed equipment which detects the approach of enemy surface ships or aircraft "in time to use the information tactically," and which will cost about $50,000,000 for the existing fleet.

The committee heard from Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of naval aeronautics, that experiments with different colors designed to make submarines invisible, presumably to prevent them being spotted from the air while submerged, are being conducted by the navy.

Towers discounted the likelihood of enemies being able to reach the United States by boats, and added:

"They cannot fly from overseas and drop any appreciable weight of bombs and be able to fly back, and they won't be able to for a long time to come."

Discussing the effect of labor stoppages on the defense program, Knox told the committee the concern on the subject "is utterly unwarranted."

"There has been some disturbance in the labor field, but, measured in terms of men out of employment due to strikes, it is negligible," he asserted.

Rear Armiral Ben Moreell, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, testified that the navy was building a new graving dock capable of accommodating the biggest ship in the navy. In response to questions, he said it would take a 55,000-ton battleship.

Boy's Bid Finally Wins

Los Angeles (AP)—At the semi-annual police auction of unclaimed bicycles a thin voice kept piping unsuccessfully, "Five dollars." Finally the auctioneer singled out Ephraim Laibchaik, 14. "Young man," he asked, "how much money have you?" "Five dollars, sir." "Don't you think this boy deserves a break?" the auctioneer demanded of the crowd. On the next bicycle there was only one bid—$5.

DIETARY DEFENSE

The Ulster County Committee on Nutrition for Defense, which as been formed recently under the sponsorship of the State and Federal Committees, will hold a dinner at the Kingston Y. M. C. A. on Thursday, March 27. The purpose of the dinner will be to demonstrate in a practical manner the low-cost foods which contain the elements of proper nutrition.

Forethought and planning should prevent the malnutrition problem from arising. With this in mind there will be a series of events planned by the local committee to promote the need of improving the nutritional status of the American people and its importance in national preparedness.

It is hard to imagine a food shortage in the United States. Because of this country's great size, its varied climate and soils and its increasing agricultural skill, it can produce most of the essential foods, including those supplying the vital vitamins. Production can be immensely increased, authorities have said, in a short time. Malnutrition because of lack of food the country needs is a worry Americans should never face.

Yet there may be malnutrition, doctors point out, if the prices of foods rise much as a result of national defense efforts. High costs will bar some foods from some homes. Such development might bring a rise in the diseases that result from inadequate diet—diseases that have been diminishing in recent years.

Fortunately there is much better knowledge of dietary needs today than there used to be, even so recently as the World War of 1914-1918. Doctors, parents, welfare groups and school authorities know the basic foods and vitamins that growing children must have if they are to be normally well and strong.

The dinner and subsequent events held here in connection with the work of the Ulster County Committee on Nutrition for Defense should receive the enthusiastic support of residents of Ulster County.

OUR CHAMPIONS

"Our army will fight on, if necessary," said the Greek government last week, "in Thrace as it has done in Epirus, and Greece will show the world how to die as she has shown it how to fight."

We hope the demonstration need not to be continued to the point of self-destruction. Little Greece has already done a service to Europe and the world as great as any single achievement in the last war, and the top feat of this one. She knocked out one of the Axis powers, while Britain took over its flimsy "empire." With all honor and respect for Britain, which has risen from the dead and performed miracles at sea and in Africa, Greece so far is the shining heroine of this second world war.

It is noble of Greece to continue holding the forefront of civilization against the new wave of barbarism, and the free world feels safer while Hellenes stand in that honored post. Greece has fought her second Thermopylae. In this new Battle of Marathon that is now approaching, she should not have to face the barbarians alone.

Britain will help; but Britain is trying now to carry the weight of half the world, and her power is growing slowly. Greece's neighbors, particularly Jugoslavia and Turkey, should be with her now. Those three, with Britain, could win. Britain and Greece may win alone, but it will take much longer and be much harder.

NATIONAL TRAFFIC CODE

Variety is a good thing in some places, but not in traffic regulation. For a long time after the automobile became a common means of transportation in the United States its use was subject to a bewildering assortment of regulations imposed by local communities and states. A driver who understood and complied with his own state's motor laws often got into trouble in a neighboring state, because the rules were different.

Eventually it was realized that national uniformity was essential in this matter, and a start was made toward working out a national traffic plan which the states could adopt through their own legislative action. More than 30 states have already adopted it, and others are preparing to do so. They should speed up their action.

In addition to sparing individual drivers embarrassment and confusion—if not arrest—national uniformity in traffic laws should make for surer driving, fewer accidents and swifter movement of traffic as a whole.

S. S. AMERICAN PRESS

A new ship of the United States Lines, just launched in San Francisco, has been given a noble name. It is the American Press. Sister ships are American Leader, American Manufacturer, American Builder. A fifth is not yet named.

The American Press is a motor ship, electrically welded throughout, capable of a speed of 14 knots an hour when fully loaded and with a cruising range of more than 20,000 nautical miles. It will carry 59 officers and crew and has accommodations for eight passengers. This group of vessels, known as C-1 cargo ships, will ply between the United States and the Orient.

Freedom of the press and freedom of the seas are two fundamental American beliefs. Giving the name Press to a new ship in these days of abridged freedoms in large areas of the world seems particularly significant.

UNBURNABLE HOMES

Evidently slum clearance is the best way to reduce fire losses. Minneapolis claims to have reduced such losses almost 100 per cent by this procedure. An area that had been having fires at a cost of $33,000 a year had only $240 of such loss when the old shacks were replaced by modern construction.

This record was made in one of the federal low-rent housing projects, where the whole construction was made as incombustible as possible. Naturally it is much harder to burn a house or apartment building definitely planned to resist fire. The wonder is that more is not being done along this line by private enterprise. Many homes, even expensive ones, are still planned without much thought for eliminating fire hazards.

TREATMENT OF ORDINARY ANAEMIA

Anaemia is when there is not enough iron in the red corpuscles of the blood or not enough corpuscles, or both. There is usually pallor, rapid heart beat, and getting out of breath easily.

As long as we can all remember, iron has been the treatment for anaemia or thin blood. If used in full dosage for a long period it is usually successful. There was, however, one form of anaemia—pernicious anaemia—in which both the iron in the red corpuscles and the number of red corpuscles themselves were reduced in which iron treatment was not successful. The patient was given transfusions of blood from time to time which prolonged his life for months and in some cases for years. It was not until Drs. Minot and Murphy discovered that calf's liver would build up the iron in the blood and increase the number of red corpuscles that pernicious anaemia was successfully controlled. The word controlled and not cured is used because liver or liver extract must be used by these patients all their lives, just as insulin must be used for all time by diabetics.

As Drs. Minot and Murphy had used calf's liver in their experiments, it was at first thought that only calf's liver was suitable, and the price of calf's liver went up to a very high price, in fact, the supply was not equal to the demand. It was soon known that cow's liver and lamb's liver were about as effective as calf's liver but not quite as tender or inviting. Later came the extract of liver which has been of help to those who are unable to eat liver every day as is usually necessary.

Liver has saved thousands of lives but unfortunately many patients with the ordinary form of anaemia—reduction of iron in the red corpuscles, but no great reduction in the number of red corpuscles — think that liver is the only treatment whereas iron and foods rich in iron should be used. Liver is of some help in all types of anaemia. Fortunately iron can be taken by mouth (in capsules where injury to teeth is feared) and practically all cases of ordinary anaemia are helped. Most physicians advise that even when the hemoglobin (iron in the blood) gets up to normal, iron should be continued for a few days each month, for a number of months.

Foods rich in iron — liver, red meats, eggs — should be used daily. Remember, there is a cause for anaemia—infection, loss of blood, shock, and others—and this should be sought while treatment is being given.

OUR FIRST DEFENSE GOAL

By Bressler

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—Much has been written of the boom towns of national defense—the cities of workers and families that spring up overnight as thousands of men pour in to build the barracks, houses, sheds and shops that go to make up the cantonments. But there is another side of the picture.

Small towns—and even larger ones—are being stripped of carpenters, tinsmiths and the other skilled and semi-skilled workers who keep a city shipshape.

Scores of small-town business and civic leaders have descended on Washington, trying to rush and widen the government's decentralization program; and, with defense contracts, trying to stop the drain on their communities. I have talked to so many of these and I have heard again and again the same story.

The workers are attracted by wages which, because of steady work, overtime, and a higher scale than in small cities, result in a monthly wage higher than most ever dreamed of. They are packing their tools and moving as fast as they can.

* * *

The Silver Lining

At least one government agency has taken cognizance of the situation. At Social Security they already know what is happening and so do many congressmen. But other than continued efforts on the part of some congressmen to speed decentralization, no action is planned.

"There's nothing we can do about it," said one Social Security official. "The situation is too localized now to merit consideration of action. Besides to try to slow up the flow of labor to these defense construction centers would be to slow up the whole program."

In addition, it was pointed out, what now appears to be a serious matter to merchants and other residents of some of these communities may prove, in the end, a blessing. The cantonment construction and plant expansion work won't last forever and when it is over the workers will return to their home towns with money to pay off the mortgages and buy some of the comforts and luxuries which they have been too busy to enjoy.

Then there will be plenty of men to do the neglected building and repair work. Business, for a while at least, will hum—and just at a time when the boom towns are deflating.

It could work that way of course. But in the meantime, the situation is producing some awful headaches for some small-town residents.

* * *

A Mass Exodus

One visiting business man told me that in his community of about 14,000, more than 700 skilled and semi-skilled workers had departed. The two nearest cantonment construction projects are 200 and 300 miles away. The city has no defense contracts yet and thus is benefiting in no way that it can see from the big building program.

"Why, there were a bunch of the men down to the station to see me off and one fellow said if I came back empty-handed, there were just 12 merchants in the crowd who were going to close their doors. I doubt that, but it is no doubt we are hard hit," he said.

An editor from a town of about 5,000 only about 70 miles from a new camp told about a neighbor whose front door had been knocked loose from its hinges. The jamb had split. "He couldn't even find a fellow handy enough with tools to fix that," said the editor.

Apparently national defense doesn't boom everywhere.

In the last 40 years of shipbuilding in the U. S., gross tonnage of vessels launched, according to the Census, has ranged from a high of 4,662,000 tons in 1919 to a low of 71,698 tons in 1933. In 1939, 1,405 vessels with a gross tonnage of 632,000 were launched.

Beat the Quiz Kids!

Jack Lucal, 13 — Geraldine Hamburg, 14 — Richard Williams, 10 — Jack French, 14 — Gloria Hunt, 14

The Quiz Kids are a group of bright youngsters who have amazed the country with their ability to answer correctly questions like the ones below. See if you can beat their percentages—but remember that these children are exceptional. Rate your own score to see if you can equal or beat their combined average of 97 per cent on today's questions.

1. If you have a mania for geography, you can answer this one. What countries have their names ending in 'mania'?

2. What is the difference between one hundred and one-hundredth?

3. Would you use pitch-blende to waterproof your roof?

4. Bertha, Juliet and Gertrude might compose a group of girls, but if they composed a part of a costume what would they be?

5. At least five of Shakespeare's plays have a character "Antonio." Name three of them.

6. If you had one and four-fifths pound of candy and gave each member of your class one-tenth pound, how many classmates did you have?

7. Who was the first signer of The Declaration of Independence?

8. If you are not referring to an aviator in speaking of a skypilot, of whom would you be talking?

9. You may be penny-wise, but can you define pennyroyal and pennyworth? (Five points for each).

10. This "March King" has nothing to do with the month of March, but is the title sometimes given the composer of "Stars and Stripes Forever." Who is he?

Heavy Planting of Trees This Spring

Farm Boys and Girls to Set Out Million-and-a-Half

Ithaca, N. Y., March 13—New York state's farm boys and girls will plant more than a million-and-a-half trees on waste land in 44 counties this spring. The youthful foresters comprise 4-H club members and students of vocational agriculture in high schools.

Allegany county leads the 4-H parade this year with 104,000 trees to be set out; Erie follows with 85,000, then Delaware with 62,000, and Broome with 53,000.

Among the 1,132 club members who will plant 1,132,000 trees are 348 girls. At the end of this spring's planting, the total set out by 4-H members in the state since 1926 will have reached 16,063,000 trees, or slightly more than a million a year.

Each young tree planter receives only once a thousand free trees from the State Conservation Department in a program in which the State Education Department and the extension service at Cornell cooperate. Demonstrations in tree planting and other forestry practices will be held in most counties in April.

Vocational Students Busy

From 114 schools in 40 counties, 505 students in vocational agriculture will plant 505,000 trees in 44 counties this spring. This will bring the grand total of trees set out by the Future Farmers to 3,964,000. Added to the 4-H club plantings, the young people of the state will have set out by the end of April more than twenty million trees.

Students from Bolivar central school in Allegany county lead with 16,000 trees to be planted. Holland central and Alden High come next with 15,000 and 12,000 respectively. Moravia High with 11,000 and Middleburgh central with 10,000, follow.

James D. Pond, assistant extension forester at Cornell, reports that Allegany county has six schools whose students will plant 36,000 trees. Erie county is next with five schools taking part and a total planting of 35,000. Eight schools in Cattaraugus county will account for 34,000 trees, and nine schools in Otsego county for 33,000.

Other leading counties are Chautauqua with five schools and 31,000 trees; and Lewis, five schools, 30,000 trees.

Lumber Industry Is Vindicated and Truth About Non-Cooperation Finally Has Come Out

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 13 — Six weeks ago an industry—and an important one in the defense set-up, namely lumber—was pilloried as non-cooperative. It had presumably allowed prices to rise. It had refused allegedly to heed the threats of government, and the building of cantonments had cost more than should have been the case.

Today the lumber industry stands vindicated and the truth about a so-called non-cooperative effort comes to the surface. It turns out that this industry actually advised the government as far back as last September on how to handle the lumber problem, but its advice was ignored. Now, however, the government has belatedly decided to avail itself of the advice of the industry and the situation complained of has been eliminated.

What has happened in lumber may happen in other industries. Because the threatened order of a "priority" in a commodity may coincide with a rise in price, it is essential that the public know how the lack of foresight of government officials themselves sometimes brings on sudden demands for a product and sends the price sky high when a bit of careful planning and cooperation with the industry in question would save the situation for all concerned.

This correspondent has just come into possession of a letter dated September 25, 1940, signed by Wilson Compton of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association here, and addressed to the quartermaster general of the army. It outlines a comprehensive plan for avoiding price fluctuations in connection with the unusual demand for lumber for army camps and it suggests an orderly system of deliveries and a method of centralized buying together with a gradual accumulation of a reserve or "stock pile." This same letter gives a detailed scheme to avoid bottlenecks and the evil effects of decentralized buying by various government agencies requiring lumber. The letter said:

"There need be and should be no profiteering in national defense and in the lumber and timber products industries, and, if you find it practicable to follow the general policy of procurement suggested, there will be none."

But the war department did not follow that procedure. The lumber controversy reached a climax in January when defense officials severely criticised the lumbermen in public for letting the situation get out of hand. The newspapers printed headlines reflecting on the lumber industry. The lumbermen took it on the chin and said nothing. Now has come an acceptance finally of the advice they gave last September. It comes in the form of an official announcement from the war department which adopts the very plan the lumber industry had suggested in September, 1940. Says the war department:

"An important step to stabilize lumber prices at a fair level through acquisition by the army of an extensive lumber stock pile was announced by Donald M. Nelson, director, division of purchases, office of production management. His announcement followed meetings of southern and west coast lumber manufacturers with the construction division of the quartermaster corps. The plan is endorsed by the division of purchases and the price stabilization division of the national defense advisory commission, whose representatives attended the meetings.

"The stock pile will be built up with the cooperation of lumber manufacturers, who have agreed to make and carry the necessary stock until the army calls for it. Prices were established by competitive bidding, and the lumber will be invoiced and paid for at the time of shipment.

"The army will continue to buy lumber in the usual way for current needs, both under the existing construction program and under any new ones which may be started. The stock pile will be drawn on whenever there are unexpected demands for immediate deliveries; thus the army will not have to come into the market suddenly with large rush orders, and will not have to face a possible shortage.

"This should have a steadying effect on the market, Mr. Nelson pointed out, and will benefit lumber manufacturers and dealers as well as the army. He added that the reserve stock is being acquired at very fair prices."

Thus the lumber industry's conception of how the job could be done expeditiously and least expensively has finally been put into effect and the government is better off because of it. The episode is important because unfortunately the American people do not get the facts about these controversies that go on between some of our defense officials and industry till long after the mistaken policy has been publicized—and then it is rare to find government officials acknowledging their errors.

Finland Forever

By Hudson Strode

Hudson Strode is one of the most remarkable teachers in America. At least four novels have been published which were written by students while still in his class in creative writing at the University of Alabama. His way with talent is so remarkable that a Philadelphia publisher is offering a prize of $1,000 to be competed for by this same class — no outsiders allowed.

Yet so far as I know Mr. Strode himself has never done a novel. He has written three travel books, including "Finland Forever," which he publishes today. And in addition an anthology of English lyrics. But no long fiction.

"Finland Forever" is rather a remarkable job, because it actually does what it sets out to do, which is to explain how a country about the size of California, with a population about equal to Missouri, was able to create a civilization second to none in the world in the 20 years after the Russian revolution, and at the end to stand off the Russian millions for 105 bloody days. And even then to be strong enough so that when capitulation became necessary it still could continue to build, could absorb the new homeless, could actually leave the short war with a better and stronger military establishement than it had at the beginning.

Mr. Strode and his wife interviewed (to judge by the book) everybody of importance in Finland and most of the remainder of the population. They traveled the length of the land—it being mostly length. They saw Laps and Sibelius; Mannerheim and factory laborers, all of them just a few months before the disaster fell upon the land. Some of their interviews were abortive, notably the Sibelius interview. Yet even from it the author emerged with a picture that is somehow helpful.

You see how Finland is compounded of pride, a cool yet active and progressive mentality, extraordinary capacity for work, and faith in a Finnish future. And shrewdness, as witness—desiring to frighten and obfuscate the Russians, Ralph Enckell of the Finnish foreign office perpetrated, according to Mr. Strode, one of the great "sells" of all time. Everybody remembers the famous "Mannerheim Line." This was, Enckell told Strode, pure imagination. There never was a great series of fortifications, Enckell said, but only a series of trenches and pill boxes.

Host to Kaiser Dies

Once host to the Kaiser's staff John Slocumbe Hall, who died recently, had many stories to tell of his 50 years as host at the White Hart Hotel, Windsor, England. He entertained many members of the royal family, including the Duke of Windsor. The Kaiser brought with him such a large staff when he visited Windsor before World War 1 that the White Hart was used to accommodate 28 of them. They marched from the castle in their official uniforms and spiked helmets.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Another delay in the building of the present Rondout Creek Bridge that led Kingstonians to wonder if the bridge would actually ever be constructed was the rejection of all bids for the building of the bridge on April 20, 1916.

It was announced that all of the bids received exceeded by more than $40,000 the appropriation that had been made to build the bridge and the approaches. The state highway department had appropriated $299,300 for that purpose.

The Freeman in its story of the rejection of the bids said that it was due to the dilatory tactics on the part of the state highway department in making surveys and re-surveys, consuming so much time that construction costs advanced.

One of the men interested in the new bridge was Isaiah Ginzburg, the lower Broadway druggist, who had a store near Abeel street at that time. Mr. Ginzburg was well-known as an artist and designer and he had on display in his show window a picture of the proposed bridge over the Rondout creek that attracted considerable favorable attention.

It is also interesting to recall that Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, now city historian, delivered the baccalaureate address to the fifty-three members of the first class to be graduated from the new Kingston High School on Sunday evening, June 25, 1916. The exercises were held in the auditorium of the new school and Charles K. Moulton, principal of the school, presided.

Fred Van Etten was editor-in-chief that year of the first issue of the senior year book "The Maroon" and the other members of the staff were Goldie Bloom, Jesse Barton, Wilson LeFevre, George Greenem, Kathlene Snyder, Mary Donovan, Beth Osborn, Edward Van Winkle, Ruth Humphrey and Ray Terwilliger.

Sam Peyer was business manager of the book, and Al Schmid and Joe Hazen were the members of the advertising staff.

I wonder how many of the older readers recall Miss Mary A. C. Moore, who served as superintendent of the Kingston Hospital for 18 years, resigning her position on Monday, April 17, 1916.

City Revels as 32 Die

China's press is depicting in ugly colors the sharp contrast between rich and poor in Shanghai. One of the stories concerns the festivities of Christmas eve. All Chinese ballrooms were crowded with Chinese pleasure seekers and the incomes of the ballrooms on that night were said to be well over $1,000,000. On the same night, 92 bodies were picked up from streets by the Shanghai Public Benevolent Cemetery. Among the bodies picked up on Christmas eve, only 23 were those of adults. On Christmas day, 32 dead adults and 47 dead children were collected.

The 1940 Census questions were printed in Braille—the raised letter text for the blind—so that occupants of blind and deaf and dumb institutions could respond.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Evidence

Philadelphia — Miss Winnifred R. Payne didn't ask the traffic court judge to take her word that someone pushed her automobile from a legal parking zone into an illegal one.

She produced a photograph showing two hand prints which she took on the scene. The judge looked at the picture—and dismissed her.

Fighter

St. Louis — While Removing clothes from the line, a squirrel jumped in Mrs. Mary Hilmmler's wash basket. When she tried to shoo it out, the animal bit her and jumped on her back.

Mrs. Himmler dashed in the house where Mrs. Helen Becker tried to remove the squirrel by the tail. It bit Mrs. Becker, too, and when she ran into the backyard it followed and bit her again.

Both women were treated at City Hospital.

Keeping in Touch

Seattle — A young man, mindful of Selective Service Act requirements, wrote the Seattle draft board:

"x x x my former address was the county jail at Salem, Ore.; present address—the state penitentiary. I will get in touch with you when I get out if you're still there."

Spooks

Waukegan, Mich.—"G-g-hosts!—I saw 'em!" quavered the woman's voice on Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy's telephone.

Quieting the caller with assurance that spooks definitely were against the law in her bailiwick, the sheriff sent out an anti-ghost squad, Deputies Herman Larsen and George Bock.

Following some very earthly tracks through the snow, the officers invaded the haunted woods and found—two crow hunters who wore white hoods as a camouflage against the wintry country-side.

Upsy Daisy

Urbana, Ill. — When William Watson took the job he knew that an elevator operator's life has its ups and downs—but, after all, too much is too much.

When the elevator mechanism went out of order, Watson couldn't stop the lift and it went up and down, up and down. Finally, on an up trip, he opened the third floor door, jumped out.

The elevator stopped when someone threw the main switch.

Exonerating the Missus

Astoria, Ore. — Frank Nelson blamed the little woman's cooking because that duck he shot was as tough as leather.

Then the biological survey replied to his letter about a survey band on the duck's leg.

The fowl had been caught and banded seven years ago—and it was full grown then!

Reformed Church Sexton Tells His Story of Old '88

Harry D. Sleight, sexton of the Old Dutch Church, who has been kept busy since Friday clearing the walks about the church from successive falls of snow, was reminded this morning of his memorable experience as a boy in the famous blizzard of March 12, 1888.

Harry was making his home with his brother-in-law, Peter Blackwell, on North Manor avenue. Mr. Blackwell was sexton of the Dutch Church at that time (he held the position for 33 years) and at 4:45 o'clock the morning of Monday, March 12, he and Harry started out for the church. The whistle blew for one o'clock when the pair finally reached Broadway about where the Franklin Pharmacy now stands, making their way through a blanket of snow that Harry says must have been around three feet on the level—if one could find a "level" place on wind-swept Albany avenue.

Reaching Broadway they found that the horse car company, which then ran a line from the ferry to Louis Elting's place on North Front street, had sent a snow plough along the tracks, drawn by some half a dozen horses and the way had been more or less broken, so that it took the two men only an hour to make the remaining distance to the church.

Snowed 24 Hours

Once there they started shoveling snow—it continued falling for another 24 hours—and it was not until Thursday of that week they finally had things under control and got back to their home. In the meantime they slept near the old heater in the church hall.

They had brought some provisions with them and the balance of their diet was made up of crackers, cheese and smoked beef purchased at Dan Brodhead's store, now the store of Edwin C. Shults, corner of Wall and Main streets. Milkmen and bakers could not get through,there were no facilities for making coffee at the church and in those days restaurants had not yet put in an appearance.

Mr. Sleight remembered one drift piled high on Albany avenue. Mr. Sleight said that they tunneled through the drift in question, which as he remembers it must have been 15 or 20 feet high and extending along the highway for a considerable distance.

The Blizzard of '88 has been pretty well chronicled in the years that have elapsed. It was accompanied by high winds that drove the snow in gusts along the valleys and in the hill country, one account says, "it assumed the character of a genuine western blizzard." In addition it was cold and on Tuesday morning the mercury dropped below zero

Railroads Blocked

Railroads were blocked for days. On the O. & W., between Weehawken and Rockland, impenetrable masses of snow blocked the tracks, with drifts from five to 25 feet in depth. It was Friday afternoon before the first mail from New York arrived along the line. The Kingston-Ellenville stage got through as far as Stone Ridge by Wednesday night.

The village of Monticello was literally snowed in and up to Thursday that week no roads were open for more than a mile from the village.

There were many cases of destitution and suffering among the poor in sparsely settled rural districts. One epic of the storm was told about J. Eber Case of Ellenville, who later was well known in Kingston as deputy county treasurer. It being reported that the family of Fred Schwab, some half a dozen persons, were probably in great need of relief, Eber started out with a horse and cutter to make his way some three miles up the mountain road east of Ellenville. He started out in the storm about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, being joined by one Pat Cummings about half way on the trip, and pluckily refusing to turn back, the two made their way through snow that ran from waist high to deep drifts, arriving at the Schwab place about 6 o'clock in the evening. They found that the family had nothing left to eat but a small amount of buckwheat, about enough for one meal.

There was at least one death from the blizzard. The victim was Fred Baker, a German resident of Ulster Heights. Baker started out Monday afternoon to go to his barn to fodder his stock. He did not return and searching parties set out Tuesday to hunt for him, but it was not until Wednesday afternoon that his body was found. He had evidently been blinded and bewildered by the furiously driven snow and after coming part way back to the house where he had been staying had wandered off the track toward the edge of a wood. It appeared that he finally had sat down and leaned against a tree, subsequently fell over and his body became covered with snow.

Pillsbury's contribution to a stronger . . more vital . . America

Enriched

Pillsbury's Best Flour

Containing precious, extra B-Vitamins and Iron

• You wives and mothers want to see your children grow as they should. You want your whole family to be able to make proper use of energy foods (carbohydrates)—which is essential to sound nerves, good appetite, the ability to thrive on hard physical work. Here is news of tremendous importance: Science has perfected a way to add to fine white flour these essentials of healthy living!

Now, in Pillsbury's Best Flour—that same, fine dependable flour which four generations of good cooks have used to do their best baking—you also get added Vitamin B, (thiamin), iron, and Vitamin P-P—essentials to the health and well-being of your entire family.

The United States Government, through the National Research Council, asked that enriched flour be put on the market with all possible speed—to help make a healthier, more vital nation. Enriched Pillsbury's Best is ready for you now at your grocer's. Ask for it when you buy flour—make sure that your family gets these three precious added food elements, which are daily essentials to their health and well-being!

Pillsbury answers your questions about this new enrichment of white flour

• You understand that modern science has perfected a way to add precious food elements to your "daily bread." But just what is being added? What does it mean to you? Here, briefly, are the answers to those natural questions of yours:

1. Vitamin B_1 (thiamin) is added—helps the body make proper use of energy foods (carbohydrates), which is essential to: (a) Proper growth in children. (b) Good appetite for both young and old. (c) Sound nerves. (d) Ability to thrive on hard physical work.
2. Iron is added—helps build red blood.
3. Vitamin P-P is added—another member of the Vitamin B complex, which also overcomes certain deficiencies in the diet.

• Every pound of Pillsbury's Best is now enriched with these three food essentials.

★ It's the same fine, dependable PILLSBURY'S BEST . . . now enriched!
★ NO CHANGE IN FLAVOR ★ NO CHANGE IN APPEARANCE
★ NO CHANGE IN BAKING QUALITIES

More Than 100 Men Apply for Places At County School

It was announced today that more than a hundred volunteer firemen of Ulster county have made application to attend the firemen's training school to be held in Myron J. Michael School.

This school is to be held under the auspices of the Ulster County Firemen's Association and the first session will be held Friday evening, March 21, at 8 o'clock.

All volunteer firemen in Ulster county are eligible to attend the school regardless of whether they are members of the Ulster County Association or not.

The course will run for ten weeks and will consist of lectures and instructions under the personal supervision of James J. Deasy, a retired battalion chief of the New York city fire department.

Volunteers must attend all ten lectures to be eligible for the examinations and diplomas which will be given by the University of the State of New York.

There will also be prizes offered by the association and by the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association of Kingston.

Furs to Be Sold

The Ulster County Trappers' Association will offer between $1,200 and $1,500 worth of fur for sale on the afternoon of March 25 at the home of Leighton Winchell on the Stone Ridge road. The main item will be muskrats which will number at least 500. In case of warm open weather between now and March 20 a greater number of muskrats will be offered. There will also be on hand small lots of fox and mink. This is the third auction held this year by the Ulster County Trappers' Association.

Insurance Agents' School

A short course school of insurance will be conducted by the New York State Association of Local Agents in this city Friday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel beginning at 7:30 o'clock. All agents of Ulster county have been invited to attend the meeting. The topic to be studied will be general liability insurance. The course will be continued for six weeks with sessions each Friday evening at the same hour and place.

Three Are Arested

Wednesday the police department arrested three out of town autoists on charges of overtime parking. All three furnished bail for their appearance later in police court. The three were Herman J. Lippman of Brooklyn, Joseph Ruthen of Jamaica and Alvin Gates of Barneveld.

STANDS BY HER HUSBAND

Anthony Nadile, on trial in Syracuse, charged with being the killer-for-hire of the late Joseph Carlucci, in 1933, greets his wife, Bernice, on her arrival from Van Dyke, Mich. The couple was married three years ago while Nadile was a fugitive in Michigan. Mrs. Nadile insists her husband is innocent.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, March 13—Frances Dickson resumed her studies in the Normal School Monday after a two-weeks' illness.

The Epworth League had charge of the service at the Methodist Church Sunday morning. Members who participated were: George Smith and Fred Swift acted as ushers; Miss Mabel Usselman gave the call to worship and pronounced the benediction; Miss Janella Palmer led the responsive reading; Francis Hasbrouck read the Scripture lesson; Miss Mary Jane Hasbrouck led the congregation in prayer, and the Rev. Elmer Bostock delivered the sermon. This service is the first of a series in which the various church organizations will take a prominent part.

The O. M. N. sorority of the high school met with Betsy Lent Monday after school. The main features of the program were readings by the president and vice-president, Peggy Grimm and Mary Christensen, respectively, from Emily Post's book, and learning the new O. M. N. song. The tune used was "Rosalie" and the words were written by Helen, Dorothy and Rosanna Atkins. Plans for the annual banquet were discussed.

At the assembly program in the high school Friday afternoon, March 14, there will be two movies, one on training bird dogs and the other on bears, their habits and where to find them.

Several members of the local American Legion Post attended the county Legion meeting in Saugerties last Thursday evening. Among them were: County Commander and Mrs. Louis Vandemark, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winkleman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ackert, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Eltinge Clearwater and Mrs. George Branigan.

The firemen are holding regular rehearsals for their minstrel show under the direction of Mrs. Roy Upright and Larry LaRochelle, to be given in the Normal School auditorium March 27 and 28. D. V. Z. Bogert is to be interlocutor; Harry Ahlberg, Ernest Ahlberg, Larry LaRochelle, George Ackert and Kenneth Rignall, endmen; Leslie Oakley, Ralph Johnson, Oscar Zimmerman and Tony Van Gonsic, solo numbers. A quartet from the Normal School and an octet from the high school, singing; Marie Ruiz, doing a tap dance; the Sutherland Trio, Louise, Helen and Hattie; Gordon Pine in a character dance, and a chorus of 50 voices.

The Rev. A. A. Frier, Walden, was guest preacher at the special Lenten service in the Episcopal Church Thursday evening. The Rev. M. V. Venno, Kingston, will speak this week.

Mrs. Minnie Schmalkuche, Mrs. Lillian Sheeley and Thomas Washington of New Paltz served with the committees of the Highland Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, at their card and game party Tuesday night.

The Past Noble Grands' Association of Vineyard Rebekah Lodge will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. Velma Clearwater, New Paltz, Thursday, March 20.

Corporal Norman Baker and Trooper Andrew Klein of New Paltz are assisting Sergeant E. Hulse at Highland during the vacation of Trooper James Benson and Trooper Lynn Baker of the B.C.I.

The local firemen were called to the home of Mr. Dressel Saturday morning to extinguish a chimney fire and again on Tuesday morning to the place of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DuBois to put out a chimney fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Iver Miller have returned from a trip to Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Harp, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sutherland and Mrs. Frank Roosa were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Roosa at Ardsley.

Crime Never Pays

Spartanburg, S. C., (AP)—A bootlegger told a federal officer here that he delivered a ten-gallon keg of moonshine whiskey on his back to a man whose office was on the fifth floor of a building and the man paid him with a check—that bounced.

SAMSONVILLE

Samsonville, March 13 — The Goodfellowship Club held its weekly meeting Monday night. There was a No. 1 attendance.

Ladies' Aid Society will hold a spring supper in the hall Friday night, April 11. All are invited to attend.

Mrs. D. C. Van Etten received word recently of the death of her cousin, Mrs. William Booth, in Worcester, Mass. Mrs. Booth had been ill for a long time at the home of her daughter. Mrs. Booth was the wife of William Booth of Pautaukunk. Besides her husband she leaves two daughters and one son of Worcester, Mass., and four sisters to mourn her loss.

Floyd Brown and wife visited at the home of Harry Keator and family Sunday.

Mrs. Harry Coons and granddaughter are spending some time with Mrs. Coons' son, Alfred, in New Jersey.

Mrs. Oliver Gray, who has been a patient at the Benedictine Hospital, has returned to her home and family much improved in health.

Leslie Keator and wife of Atwood called on his brother, H. Keator, and family Sunday afternoon.

There will be an old-fashioned hymn sing, also a cafeteria supper, served by the members of the Goodfellowship Club, in the hall Monday night, March 17.

Moon Has Eclipse

If you happen to come home about 4:30 o'clock this morning and thought you saw a peculiar shadow covering the moon, it was a partial eclipse of the moon which astronomers fixed at 4:37 a. m. Starting at that hour the eclipse became more noticeable until about one third of the moon's disc was covered by the earth's shadow. The middle of the eclipse was at 6:55 a. m. and ended at 9:13 a. m. The eclipse was visible over practically all of North America. There will be an eclipse of the sun on March 27 but it will be visible only in certain parts of South America.

Vitus Bering is credited with discovering northwestern America 200 years ago.

18 Ask for Blanks To Try Exams

Applications Must Be Filed No Later Than 19th

City Clerk E. J. Dempsey said this morning that so far he has given out 18 application blanks for the position of fire alarm dispatcher in the fire department. Applications must be filed not later than March 19, and the examination will be held at the high school on March 21.

Two dispatchers will be appointed from the eligible list to be compiled as a result of the examination. The position will pay $1,040 a year.

The civil service board will also hold a promotion examination for the position of deputy fire chief which pays a salary of $2,520. This examination is open only to members of the paid fire department who meet the requirements. Approximately 16 members of the paid force are eligible to take the examination but it is not expected that all will compete.

Those filing applications for the position of dispatcher must pay a fee of 50 cents while those applying for deputy fire chief must pay a fee of $2.

Sons of Legion

Sons of Legion drum and bugle corps will hold a rehearsal this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Legion Memorial Building.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome loose plate discomfort. FASTEETH, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates holds them firmer so that they feel more comfortable. HEART'S HAVEN

Ruth Rosemary Corby

YESTERDAY: Julie Emerson, who is an actress a little past her prime, and her young friend Eve have won some money in an advertising contest, and Julie has insisted on investing it in a month at an expensive hotel on the chance that Eve can pick up a young husband for herself—with money. She just has wangled an invitation out of wealthy Mrs. Marbury, yet she has a feeling Eve will not be too pleased.

Chapter Two

Party

"MRS. MARBURY has asked us up for cocktails tomorrow afternoon," Julie announced with some triumph in her voice. "You see, dear, I was right about coming here—and please try to act a little less bored, won't you, Eve? Even if you do think we're wasting the money, you might as well enjoy yourself while we're here."

Eve turned her head so that it rested on her arm, while she looked at her self-appointed guardian. "I thought you looked as if you had just swallowed a canary when I came in—in spite of the eye-pads. Of course I'll try to be the gay young thing, if you want me to, but for heaven's sake, Julie, let's cancel our reservation next week and go back to New York. I could still get back my old job at the Sheraton Decorating Shop and we'd have some money left, anyhow."

"But we have over two thousand dollars left!" Julie said with astonishment. "And of course you can't walk into a place like this and get to know everyone within five days. We really should stay, Eve, now that we're just getting to know the right people. You'll feel better about it, too, I'm sure, when you meet Mrs. Marbury's niece—Gina Goodell—and her friends."

"Oh, Gina Goodell!" said Eve enigmatically.

"Don't you like her?" inquired Julie anxiously.

"I probably would if I ever got the chance," retorted Eve. "But after all, she is the heiress to the Marbury lumber millions. In spite of your hopes, Julie, I'm just a poor working girl and Gina and I don't have much in common, I'm afraid."

And there was slight friction in the Marbury suite as well.

"But—Aunt Helen, you won't ruin the afternoon with that—that architect, will you?" Gina Goodell's light voice was a wail, as she watched her aunt directing the caterer in the "bridal suite" at the Ocean Park Hotel.

Gina matched her voice; her blonde hair hung in softly waved lengths around a pert, childish face that was too sharp to be pretty. She could, if she wished, look like an angel straying out of her celestial world, but usually, as now, she looked merely like an annoyed kitten. Mrs. Marbury, however, knew that Gina's claws could be sharp, and she hastened to reassure her niece.

"He's not an architect, darling—he's an expert on Early American houses; there's quite a difference."

"What difference?"

"Oh, don't be trivial, dear—" Her aunt vaguely moved a tray of canapes nearer the edge of the table. She did hope Gina would forget her petulance. If she actually took a dislike to Brett Rodman there would be little hope of getting her interested in this house. As the waiter left the room, she clutched at the first straw that came to mind.

"And by the way, dear—I've invited that nice Mrs. Emerson and her niece to come up. She's such a good bridge player—and interested in old houses, too. We had quite a chat about it."

"You do pick up the strangest people, Aunt Helen. You've scarcely seen this Mrs. Emerson a dozen times. . . ." Gina's voice wandered off, as she lit a cigarette and stuck it in a long amber holder.

Mrs. Marbury thought it time to be authoritative. "I don't 'pick up people,' Gina—and it's disrespectful of you to use that tone. I knew some Emersons once, out in Chicago—fine people—and I'm sure this Mrs. Emerson must be related. It seems to me the younger generation condemns everyone it doesn't know."

"Darling!" Gina was all contrition, her blonde hair a scented cloud as she swooped down on her aunt and kissed her soft cheek. "I'll keep the crowd under control for the sake of these cronies of yours. But the niece is such a queer duck—always dodging off and looking down her nose. It's a nice nose too—funny she hasn't just swarms of men around."

Hunt For Moonlight

TO Eve and Julie, presenting themselves at the Marbury suite at five-thirty, the hostess and her niece seemed to be in perfect accord. Mrs. Marbury came forward instantly and drew them into a group of chattering young people, whom she introduced with vague gestures right and left.

Eve instantly identified Gina; she was curious to see what type of girl she could be. She noticed with surprise that Gina was regarding her with the same challenging expression. It was Gina who spoke first, and held out her hand.

"Hello!"

"Why—hello!" Eve's husky voice held a surprised note. Gina's welcome had taken her entirely off guard. The next minute Gina's arm was slipped through hers, and Eve was turned half away from the crowd.

"All those who want to be presented—the line forms at the right," Gina announced, her long red-tipped fingers warding off the men nearest. "I'm not going to have this gal killed in the rush."

"Just introduce her to me, then." A young blond giant looked down at Eve unsmilingly, but she suspected there were dimples. "I'll protect her."

"You're the worst of the lot!" Gina's retort brought a ready grin, and Eve saw that, as she had thought, there was one lopsided dimple. "But I suppose I'll have to do it. Eve, this is Neil Bowron, third, and if he even mentions moonlight, run like a deer. This is Evangeline Prentice, Neil."

"I like moonlight," said Eve thoughtfully. Instantly Neil stooped, picked her up in his arms, and started for the door.

"Out of my way," he commanded Gina. "We're going to look for some moonlight."

In the ensuing hubbub, Eve found herself set on her feet again, slightly bewildered, but having entirely lost her first feeling of strangeness. No one seemed to object to the little scene. The girls told her carelessly "not to mind Neil" and the men crowded up for their introductions until Neil was pushed into the background.

One slight earnest-looking young man whose hair was perpetually in his eyes, came up just as Eve began to look for Julie.

"I'm Hamilton Milliard," he said casually. "My friends call me Ham. I hope you don't think we're just a bunch of roughnecks."

"Not at all," Eve managed, although her heart was thumping heavily. "Usually introductions are so dull, don't you think?"

"Good girl!" Ham caught Gina's hand as she walked by and said in a stage whisper: "If I don't propose some night—this is the reason why." He pointed a finger at Eve.

Gina's small face was unexpectedly serious. "I don't believe I'd mind," she said slowly. "I'm afraid I'm going to like her, Ham."

Fun At Last

THE rest of them evidently accepted Gina's pronouncement, and Eve found herself the center of a laughing group that dissolved and came together again with apparent lack of design. Yet she knew, even without glancing over her shoulder, that Neil Bowron was always near at hand. For the first time since she had come to the hotel—indeed, for the first time in many months—Eve began to enjoy herself.

She forgot that she did not belong, that most of these young people—even Neil—were accepting her on face value. She entered into their running comment on the hotel and its lack of excitement, until a question from one of the girls brought her up short.

"Are you coming down to Spring Lake next month?" she inquired. "Don't stay at the hotel—we can put you up."

Eve caught her breath and hoped she did not look as startled as she felt.

"My aunt must return to New York," she said fumblingly. "We—we haven't made any plans beyond that."

Again Eve looked desperately for Julie, but she and Mrs. Marbury were sitting at ease in a corner, talking briskly and paying no attention to the others. Eve was hoping for escape when she felt Neil's hand on her arm. She glanced up gratefully.

"The moonlight's turned off—but there's a nice sunset out on the terrace," he said in a low tone. "Maybe we could make it do. What do you think?"

Eve nodded, and together they strolled to the long, open windows.

Julie, happening to see them go, interrupted her hostess' often-repeated complaint about Mr. Rodman's lateness.

"Who is that with Eve?" she asked with a shade of concern. The man was too handsome to be true, she told herself.

Mrs. Marbury looked around, and locating them just as they stepped outside, said placidly, "Oh, that's Neil. Neil Bowron, you know. Nice boy. I knew his mother quite well at one time, but she's lived abroad now for the last five years. She married a count, I believe. Well—at last!"

Her exclamation was directed toward two men who came in at that moment and stood, obviously ill at ease, just where the maid had left them. The older man was almost bald, and his head shone almost as much as his unrimmed glasses. The other man, looking around with what Julie privately thought was a disdainful expression, appeared more at ease, but defiant, as if he dared the assembled party to do its worst.

Tells of Health In Middle Years

Age of 40 Should Start Happy Period for Women

Ithaca, N. Y., March 13—The age of forty should bring many valuable assets to women "if they realize the possibilities open to make life profitable and happy," says Dr. Helen D. Bull of the New York state college of home economics.

Many more women today reach this period of good judgment, wide experience, and maturity of outlook than ever before, and should learn to enjoy the increasing leisure, freedom from diseases of youth, from the care of little children, and from the risk of child-bearing, she says.

Dr. Bull advises a diet of fruits, vegetables, milk, meat and eggs with a reduced amount of breads, cakes, cereals, candy, and sugars. Less sleep is needed, so one should plan for wakeful periods and plan to adjust sleep habits to keep a balance between rest and work. "To stop when one is tired is the best way to save energy," she says.

No Heavy Exercise

"Since elasticity of bone, tissue, and ligaments gradually decreases from childhood on, and the body becomes increasingly rigid, activity must be adjusted to it. Violent exercise, such as active sports and work that includes the lifting of heavy loads should be left behind," assert Dr. Bull.

"On the other hand," she continues, "the body should be kept supple and in good condition by such exercise as gardening or general housework."

Health examinations once a year or oftener, in her opinion, should help allay the dread of cancer, diabetes, thyroid disturbances and diseases of the heart, blood vessels and kidneys and would check these diseases should they arise.

"To sum up," Dr. Bull concludes, "middle life requires lighter diet, not quite so much sleep, some moderation in strenuous exercise, and a little care in watching for illnesses. But if a woman herself will make the effort to accept her middle years as they are and not fight against herself, she will surely find many privileges and lots of possibilities for enjoyment and achievement.

Ride Stealers Warned

So generally have the students in and near Cawnpore and Lucknow, India, adopted the practice of stealing rides on the railway trains that the authorities have given them grave warning and appealed to the school heads to take drastic action. Ticketless travel has been growing among all classes, but especially among the students. The executive committee of the Cawnpore Students Union passed a resolution condemning the practice and expressing regret for the clash which occurred at the Amausi railway station, resulting in the arrest of a number of students.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Nazis Accuse U.S. of Double-Cross With Britain to Get Areas

Charge Is More Of Nose-Thumbing Than Propaganda

Public Sentiment in This Nation Has Changed as Did Britain's During Czech Invasion

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Nazidom, speaking through the medium of the government-controlled radio, charges that Uncle Sam is a double-dealer in the matter of aid for Britain and "in tent only upon the speediest acquisition of a maximum of British possessions."

That is so far from the fact that I doubt whether the Germans or their partners in the Triple Alliance, Italy and Japan, really believe Uncle Sam is such a rat as to double-cross a friend and then knife him in the back for gain. It isn't even a very smart piece of propaganda, but more in the class of thumbing one's nose to express resentment.

Still, the allegation is a reminder that self-analysis is always good. Just what is our feeling as we start to pour our resources out for the Anglo-allies?

I have talked with people of all classes in many parts of the country since the war began, and have no doubt that America is impelled by high and unselfish motives. If the security of our country and ways of life is foremost in our minds, that is natural. But beyond this my definite impression is that the majority of Americans in supporting aid for Britain are honestly anxious to help preserve the security and ways of life of other countries who are victims of aggression.

Long and Grave Thought

Uncle Sam hasn't arrived at his present pitch of determination, however, without long and grave thought. It was the same with the allies, for the matter, and the development has been intensely interesting to study.

When I was in England in August of 1938, just before Munich, the public was more than apathetic about fighting for Czecho-Slovakia, or anybody else outside the empire. After the little republic was put on the sacrificial altar, however, and the blood began to run, there was a sharp revulsion of public opinion.

England realized for the first time what was in store. Then was born the spirit of resistance which we see today.

Public sentiment in the United States has undergone a similar change as I see it. And the Axis itself has been primarily responsible for this, for with each succeeding act of aggression there has been increasing sentiment in America for defensive measures and aid for the Anglo-allies. There have been differences of opinion as to methods of procedure, and some have honestly opposed any foreign entanglements, but this hasn't altered the general trend.

On one point there seems to have been almost solid agreement —America hasn't felt it necessary or wise for us to get into war. The thousands with whom I have come into direct contact have accepted the repeated assurances of the British government that what was wanted was the tools with which to fight and not men or our active participation.

Danger Is Great

This being the case, it would seem only fit that we should realize fully where we stand as regards danger of being drawn into the war.

To my mind that danger is very considerable indeed. It isn't so great that we need despair of staying out, but the threat is serious enough so that we should school our minds for the possibility, and thereby avoid a nasty shock if war should break suddenly. My sole purpose in mentioning this disagreeable subject is to try to be helpful in averting such a shock.

The Triple Alliance has kept warning us of the wrath to come. The time might arrive when it would suit their purpose if our resources were split up by our involvment in war. You will recall that President Roosevelt on January 6 said:

"When the dictators are ready to make war upon us, they will not wait for an act of war on our part."

Grant's Stage Sale

The great spring sale event staged by the local W. T. Grant store will begin Friday and continue through Saturday, March 22, according to an announcement by Philip Ramsey, manager of the Kingston store. Reductions on regular Grant merchandise will be features of this event, and in addition, many special purchases planned for months in advance, will be on sale. The local store, one of a group of 494 junior department stores located all over the country, was opened in 1926, and has grown steadily to meet the needs of this community, employing at present 35 residents of this territory.

Many Crowds Saw These Faces at Tony Pastor's

In the days before the super-streamlined effects in this era of stage costumes you might chance upon a scene such as shown above if you went night-clubbing along 14th street in Little Old New York. The group 'taking the bow' as they did in those days, shows four of the Five Weston Sisters, who sang the songs you've probably heard grandma humming. They are left to right; Barbara, Teresa, Maria and Rose. At bottom left is Mrs. Elizabeth Cramer of Rosendale as she was when she sang with the other sisters and did solos such as "Silver Moon" for which she became a popular songstress of the day. At the right is Mrs. Cramer as she appears today after many years of retirement from the stage.

Mrs. Elizabeth W. Cramer Brings to Life Colorful Era When Pastor's Was the Place

There as One of Five Weston Sisters She Was Toast of Gay, Old New York

All the fascination and dazzling color of an age which started the nation on a new era of the song and dance is a vivid memory now to a Rosendale woman who knew the stage when its height of achievement was a billing on 14th street, New York.

Those were the days when Tony Pastor was "packing 'em in" and when Lillian Russel had become the chief attraction at Tony's popular dine and dance palace. They were the days of the sentimental and romantic ballads, the waltz clog and the lilting preludes to today's age of jazz.

They were the days too, when The Five Weston Sisters "went through their paces" as a main attraction at Tony Pastor's and it is one of these sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Weston Cramer of Mountain Road, Rosendale, who tells the story of those days as she knew them.

Mrs. Cramer whose maiden name was Lillian Lohmann indicates that she achieved a career on the stage as much by accident as by determination, but she had a natural voice, as did her four sisters and that fact could not long remain a secret for any family who lived so near 14th street.

Didn't Like Shows

"My father was a stern Christian man," Mrs.. Cramer explained, "and he would pass a theatre as though it belonged to the devil, and he wouldn't think of taking any of his children to a show."

This stern character of her father, a Civil War veteran, how, ever, was offset a bit by fate, for when she was 16 years old the girl who was to become known as Elizabeth Weston, was injured in an accident.

"When I recovered," she said, "My father was so glad that I wasn't killed that he consented to take me to Tony Pastor's to see 'Patience,' a skit which featured the Irving Sisters."

That was her first look at the glorified life of the stage and a short time later she got a job in the shop of Madame Smith who was a theatrical dressmaker. She learned much about show people there and the life they led attracted her.

She also worked for a time for Professor Phelix Adler, but it was the job in the dressmaking shop which she liked and which ultimately gave her a chance for the stage.

Her First Chance

Such places as Pastor's and others on 14th street often advertised for girls to wear costumes and fill in on certain programs and it was one of these which gave her the chance she never dreamed would lead to a booking as a headliner attraction at the famous New York spot.

At Tony Pastor's she became acquainted with Tom Martin, booking agent and manager at Pastor's whom she later married. It was Martin who discovered the talent which finally led to an act featuring all five sisters and which was continued by some of the other sisters for several years after Elizabeth's retirement to private life.

The Weston Sisters played many spots in New York and later in Boston, Philadelphia and other cities and once, to be precise, January 24, 1899, the girl who is now Mrs. E. Cramer of Rosendale, sang at Carnegie Hall using her maiden name, Lillian Lohmann. Her song then was "Old Madrid."

One of the sisters, who later became Mrs. Barbara Rothert, also lived for a time at Rosendale and she still owns the house next to that in which Mrs. Cramer now lives. Another sister, Teresa, who had remained on the stage with Rose until 23 years ago, is now employed at Macy's department store in New York.

Maria, another of the sisters died several years ago and Rose now lives in New York. Mrs. Cramer retired following her second marriage many years ago. Her first husband, Tom Martin, died while she was still on the stage and while he was still engaged as a theatrical agent.

Favorite Songs

Mrs. Cramer, recalling some of the favorites of the day which she sang at Pastor's and other spots in New York, mentioned "Silver Moon" as one of the favorites. "I always came through with that as an encore," she said, "and most of the time when I sang the audience asked for it."

Others popular at the time were; "Sally in Our Alley", one titled "Dear Heart", and another "Afterwards". One of philosophical trend was "Life's Game of Cards," and this she sang, with breaks for some advising monologue.

Those were the days too, she remembers, when Maggie Kline was singing "Throw 'Em Down McCloskey", and the audiences never had enough. Anna Hart was coming through then also with "The Hat Me Father Wore," and about everybody at Tony Pastor's was chanting "How'd You Like to Be the Iceman?"

Mrs. Cramer also recalls that she played on the same bill with the "Cohan Family", from which George M. Cohan rose to be one of the nation's greatest figures in the world of entertainment. They also had their turn at Pastor's, she said, and their act was popular.

Trunk Holds History

A trunkful of clippings, programs and various scrap books kept in the early days by Mrs. Cramer, would reveal much more of the history of those days, but the bigger events are fresh in her memory, although she is often confused in recalling dates and the sequences of various important occasions.

Her first meeting with Lillian Russel, for instance, she was unable to recall at once, but then it came to her that it was at a memorial service for Tony Pastor at the Schimerhorn Hall, Brooklyn. This was about in 1905 or 1906.

Before that time, however, she had seen Lillian Russel, and had been attracted to her as the rest of the nation was at that time.

Mrs. Cramer will reach her 75th birthday March 31 and she plans to observe the day quietly in her home. She looks younger in years and continues active daily about her home.

Nephew Is Trooper

George Roth Jr., son of Mrs. Barbar Rothbert, one of the sisters, is a state trooper and was stationed in the Kingston area for a time. He is now at Jones Beach, L. I.

An adopted son of Mrs. Cramer, Jack Cramer, who for a time attended Kingston High School is now a prominent labor union official and Helen Cramer, an adopted daughter, has been employed with the Telephone Company in New York for 17 years.

The stage career for all of the sisters is now a thing of the remote past, but perhaps for all of them, the memory of those days often make it appear like only yesterday.

"It was an interesting life," she said, and it all came about because five sisters were able to sing.

"We were no opera singers," she added, "but God blessed us with natural voices and we made the best of them."

Pets Barred From Pen

Finding that fur and feather pets in the penitentiary at Mexico City have become so numerous that they camouflaged the prisoners, penal authorities have ruled that Mexico's biggest jail must be exclusively for humans. The penitentiary has more than 3,000 inmates, including 1,000 women, and they had dogs, cats, chickens, song birds, parrots and squirrels in their cells. Callers will be permitted to bring the pets for visits.

Experts Declare U. S. Will Take Care of Herself in Arms Race

Sergeants Pierce and Smith Write About Cape Cod Camp

Local Soldiers of 57th Battalion Tell of Life in Army on the New England Coast

Company "A", Fifty-Seventh Signal Battalion
Camp Edwards Massachusetts
March 8, 1941

Gentlemen:

From articles such as "Private Melville writes of Life at Camp Dix, New Jersey" and "Private Cwill writes of Life at Fort Bragg, North Carolina" your readers are getting an idea of how the local boys, who have enlisted or have been inducted into the service have been making out. How about hearing from a couple of fellas who are currently stationed in this section of the country? That is, at Camp Edwards, the same of which is situated in a most remote location on that part of Massachusetts known as Cape Cod. Where the nearest towns are composed of little clusters of picturesque Cape Cod Cottages and little more. The population of these hamlets runs between five and six thousand inhabitants, including livestock, and the famous Kape Kod Klams. Such weird names as "Buzzards' Bay" and "Woods Hole" are attached to these little tank towns, and, with due apologies to the Massachusetts State Chamber of Commerce, even when you get to them, there isn't anything. A soldier likes to go to town once in awhile to see a show perhaps, and at least expect the theaters to have sound-equipment.

The reservation itself is more than thirty-five miles square, so it still practically takes a three-day pass to get off the camp. The city of Boston is a good eighty miles to the north and Kingston seems so far away that we don't even try to get home anymore. The weather in this section of the country is too miserable to talk about. The snow doesn't bother us much, but the heavy rains that seem to follow each blizzard leave the camp grounds a veritable mud hole.

There are close to two thousand of the new two story wooden barracks, newly constructed, and as bright, as warm, and as cozy as hotels. There are also mess-halls, recreation halls, several theaters, and hospital buildings on the post, plus the usual "canteens", where the soldiers can buy everything from stamps to shaving soap with their canteen "checks." They are not unlike the old fashioned "general stores."

Outside of myself and Sergeant Edward J. Smith of Kingston, and Private Vrooman E. Krom of Ellenville, I have found no other boys from Ulster county in this area. Left most of them down at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey when we were transferred here from the Signal Corps School, January 28. "We Three" are members of the new 57th Signal Battalion, which was activated the 10th of February. The 57th began as a "Cadre" of the 51st Signal Battalion, the "mother outfit" of all the existing Signal Companies in the United States.

It is the task of approximately 40 of us regular army men to form the nucleus of this newly organized battalion, which consists of three companies, Headquarters, "A", and "B", to train more than four hundred "selective trainees," men who have been drafted for a year and assigned to the Battalion.

The work of the Signal Battalion consists chiefly of methods of communication. "A" Company is a construction company, which erects pole lines, lays field wire, and establishes telephone communications. "B" Company maintains the switchboards, and is also a radio, telegraph and teletype communication outfit. "Headquarters" Company maintain and operates the motor vehicles necessary in this work, and also operates a "message center" or post office. Summed up, the 57th constructs communication systems by radio, telephone and telegraph, operates and maintains the systems. Members of the Battalion are trained to be skilled telephone linemen, switchboard operators and repairmen, radio operators, and "motor-transport" mechanics and chauffeurs.

It is expected that the 57th will go on the Sixth Army Corps Manuevers in upstate Massachusetts and New Hampshire about June. In September we are scheduled to engage in the First Army maneuvers in North Carolina. Signal Battalions are the real "gypsy" outfits of this man's army, and always the first to go, and the last to leave on these manuevers, all of which should satisfy ones "wanderlust".

At the present time, with new recruits being "inducted" to serve their year with this Battalion, most of the work of the non-commissioned officers entails teaching the Selective Trainees the basic fundamentals of being a soldier, and the recruits are put through an extensive thirteen-week training program which is comprised of drills, squads left, squads right, exercise, defense against chemical warfare, countless lectures, military courtesy, discipline of the soldier, the use of firearms (I might mention that the only arm of the Battalion is the 45 semi-automatic pistol. Our chief arms are "climbers" which are strapped on the legs so we can go up those telephone poles like monkeys on a stick, and a pair of pliers for cutting, and splicing wires and cables) and countless other items on "How to be a soldier."

So, if any of the Kingston boys who enlist, or are inducted, would think they'd like to be telephone linemen, radio operators, or truck drivers, well, the Signal Corps is the branch of the service they should endeavor to get into.

We "regulars" who will be able to say someday "I was one of the men who helped form the "cadre" of the 57th" (oftentimes called the Heinze Battalion) are pretty proud of our new organization and all look forward to making it as respected and envied an outfit as the 51st Signal Battalion. I guess that is what's called "Esprit de corps".

If we don't see any more of the Kingston boys in this section of the East, we still look forward to running into some of them in New Hampshire or the South during the coming manuevers. There may be more of them on this camp site, in either the coast artillery, anti-aircraft, infantry, quartermaster or medical outfits that are also stationed here at Camp Edwards. Never can tell when you're going to run into one of your friends from the old home town.

If anyone has been wondering what the military reservations in the New England States are like, we hope our contribution has given them more than a vague idea. All in all, army life way out here on Cape Cod isn't half bad. If only that fierce northeast wind would quit howling around the barracks like a banshee. Just when the weather will begin to become warmer, we will probably be transferred down South, or possibly to Alaska, which will be even worse. You can never tell about these things.

It must be that we are just allergic to the snow and cold. It's all in the "line of duty" and we don't mind it as badly as we think. If any of the Kingston boys ever get sent up to Camp Edwards, we hope they will look us up.

Many of them are probably scattered at army posts and camps all over the country, but we still like to feel we are all "brothers in arms."

We hope any and all of our old neighbors who come into the service fare well and have the best of luck and agree with us in that "This is the Life."

Thanking you for granting us a bit of space in your paper, we are,
Sergeants John T. Pierce and Edward J. Smith,
Company "A", 57th Signal Battalion,
Camp Edwards, Massachusetts.

U. S. May Deport Author; His Book Is Best Seller

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Immigration officials, it was learned today, have begun an investigation of Jan Valtin, author of the current best seller, "Out of the Night."

The author's own statements, a Justice Department official said, were the basis on which the first step in deportation proceedings was taken.

Valtin, who acknowledges that the name he uses is a literary pseudonym, described in his book his alleged experiences first as a Communist agitator in his native Germany, then as Gestapo (secret police) agent and later as an agitator who sought overthrow of the government in the United States. He told also of entering the country illegally and of reversing his belief in Communism.

Solely on the basis of statements made by Valtin in his book, an official said, there appeared to be several counts on which he could be deported. He listed these as illegal entry, criminal record, and former membership and activity in an organization which advocates overthrow of the government.

If the justice department should decide that Valtin should be deported, it would be confronted with the problem of where and how to send him — a situation which exists with reference to some 6,000 aliens now under deportation warrants.

Masquerade Ball

The Esopus Township Sportsmen's Association will give a masquerade ball at the Golden Rule Inn Friday night, March 14. Barringer's Ragtime Mountaineers will furnish music for old fashioned and modern dancing. There also will be entertainment.

White Lion Club Born

A lion cub pure white in color is causing much excitement among the superstitious and others in Kyushu, Japan. It is one of three born to a lioness in the zoo. M. Tsutsui of the Osaka Zoo believes it may be a pure albino.

Retired Army Colonel Says Resources Equal to All the Rest of World Together

Cleveland, March 13 (AP)—Several military experts attending an expedite-armament meeting today expressed general agreement the United States could take care of herself in the world armament race despite a slow start in production.

Frank A. Scott, retired Cleveland army colonel who was the first chairman of the World War industries board, appraised various American industrial resources as "equal to all the rest of the world together" and declared:

"We have the manpower equal to fight all the rest of the world if we conscripted on the basis of the north and south in the Civil War."

Scott and James L. Walsh, retired New York city army colonel who is chairman of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers' National Defense Committee, addressed a session of the society's two-day army-navy meeting.

Exhorting engineers and other armament production men for full speed, Walsh told them adoption of the lend-lease bill means "we're going to close our ranks and do this job and keep the dirty Hun off our clean shores."

Lieut. Col. John K. Christmas, tank expert at the army's Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds, declared tanks being produced in the United States "are as fine as any in the world" and are "a superior product because they are the product of American brains and industry."

The society concentrated today on various aspects of gages—the devices which measure with such accuracy that military parts produced all over the nation may be assembled in a single plant—and still fit.

Some factory men declared the "pinch" in defense-essential gages was more pronounced than that in machine tools. Priorities have been instituted in both industries.

Attractive Ladies Describe Gifts

Joseph M. Schenck Must Answer on Deductions From Income Tax

New York, March 13 (AP)—Three attractive young ladies from Hollywood told the federal court yesterday about Joseph M. Schenck's costly entertainment and costlier gifts.

The government accuses the film financier of deducting the cost of such entertainment and gifts from his tax returns for 1935, 1936 and 1937 as "business expenses."

In all, for these items, other similar ones and alleged gambling winnings, Schenck is charged with having evaded tax obligations by approximately $412,000 during the three years on a total income of $2,000,000.

Heading the parade of witnesses was mink-coated Grace Poggi, a twice-married professional dancer, who testified Schenck had put her up in hotels in Hollywood, New York and London, had given her a car and had allowed her to use his Hollywood mansion and his big yacht.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Mathias Correa then called Audrey Sutherland, divorced wife of a Hollywood director, and Janice Dawson Pierse, who told of a Schenck-financed party at a desert resort, the cost of which showed up on his tax report as business expenses.

Copies of Poem Received By Bundles for Britain

Bundles for Britain, located at 302 Fair street, has received several copies of "The Jervis Bay Goes Down" by Gene Fowler. "The Jervis Bay Goes Down" is a poem first recited over the radio by Ronald Coleman in a nation-wide broadcast for a "Telp Greece" program and later put into book form.

The poem is based on a true episode telling the thrilling story of an heroic sacrifice. The Jervis Bay was a converted merchant cruiser that was sunk in mid-ocean November 5, 1940. Her crew sacrificed the old ship deliberately in an encounter with a Nazi pocket battleship in order to give escape to 29 ships in convoy.

Both the author and the publisher of "The Jervis Bay Goes Down" are donating all profits from the sale of this volume to Bundles for Britain. Anyone interested in securing a copy may do so at the local headquarters for a nominal sum.

To Hold Service

There will be a prayer service in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason, 170 South Wall street, on Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock, sponsored by the Young People of the Church of the Nazarene. There will be inspirational singing led by an experienced song leader and special music both vocal and instrumental. A practical message will be delivered.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, March 13—The annual meeting of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church was held on Thursday with a covered dish luncheon served at noon. This session was an all-day affair. The nominating committee consisting of Mrs. J. Boynton Scott, Mrs. John Lynn and Mrs. Frank Johnston, presented a slate of officers for the coming year, which was accepted. The officers are Mrs. J. Calvin Wygant, Jr., president; Mrs. H. Townsend Velie, first vice-president; Mrs. Edmund Carpenter, second vice-president; Mrs. John Gow, treasurer, and Mrs. C. Van Dyke, recording secretary. Chairman was Mrs. Fred Velie and assisting were Mrs. Barrett Wygant, Mrs. E. B. Warren and Mrs. Edward Penny. The regular meeting of the Girl Council Advisory Group met in the homemaking room of the Marlborough Central School on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. William Badner in charge. Miss Catherine Dowd is the new leader of the Sun Patrol group of the Girl Scouts. This group has been under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Staples, who has entered school at Syracuse. At the meeting it was decided that from March 17 through to the end of April would be the time for the Girl Scout annual drive, with troop leaders and members of the group endeavorng to make it a successful effort. The date of March 25 was set for the leaders of the troops for their get-to-gether tea, for members of their troops and friends. At the tea, different articles made by the various troops will be on display for those attending to get some idea as to the work the girls are doing. Troop leaders are Miss Emily Pattison, Miss Catherine Dowd, Mrs. Harold McCourt, Miss Emily Pattison and Mrs. Louella Taylor.

Mrs. James Hannigan is ill at her home.

Mrs. Frank Lockwood of Highland spent Wednesday in town visiting with friends and relatives.

Miss Alice McLaughlin has secured a position in Highland Central School for the remainder of the school year. She will take the place of Mrs. Raymond Garraghan, who has been granted a leave of absence for the rest of the year. Miss McLaughlin, who has been one of the instructors in the religious training in St. Mary's Church, will be replaced by Mrs. William McLaughlin.

The regular meeting of Court Santa Maria, Catholic Daughters was held in the Church Hall on Thursday evening with Mrs. Mary Manion, Grand Regent in charge. Following the regular business meeting a social hour was enjoyed committee headed by Mrs. Rudolph O. Froemel.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barry and children and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DallVechia and children were guests on Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barry in Newburgh, when the birthdays of Mrs. Roy Barry and Mrs. Joseph DallVechia were celebrated at a joint party.

Misses Joan Barry, Ruth Barry, Patty DallVechia and Sharlene Barry attended a birthday party in the home of Mrs. R. Luck in honor of the birthday of her daughter on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Johnston entertained relatives from Newburgh and Cornwall Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Samuel Taylor of Poughkeepsie was a recent guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hines.

Miss Marion Casey, student nurse at St. Francis Hospital Poughkeepsie, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Casey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ennist of Highland were business callers in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. Allan Purdy spent the week-end in Georgia where she visited with her husband who has a position there. Mr. Purdy returned home with her on Tuesday.

Clifford Stant of Georgia spent a few days this week with his wife and family.

Miss Ethel Rusk of New York city was a recent guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rusk.

Rabbi J. J. Tepfer To Speak in City

Jewish Institute Teacher to Talk in Temple

Kingston is to be given a special privilege of hearing Rabbi John J. Tepfer, a teacher in the Jewish Institute of Religion, New York city, the seminary headed by Dr. Stephen S. Wise. Rabbi Tepfer will speak on Friday evening in Temple Emanuel on the subject, "The Nature of the Jewish Mind." The public is urged to attend.

Rabbi Tepfer has studied in various universities in this country, but received the major part of his education in England. He has traveled widely and has written extensively. His field is in rabbinic literature and Jewish history.

Rabbi Tepfer has occupied several prominent pulpits, but has relinquished the active ministry for teaching and scholarly pursuits. His brilliant message and lucid presentation will be a spiritual experience for all who hear him. People of all creeds are invited to attend.

'See' Their Baby's Cries

Omaha (AP)—Mary Ann White's parents are deaf, but they can "see" their four and a half months old baby cry—even at night—thanks to a friend's ingenuity. A microphone over the baby's crib is hooked to an amplifier and an electric relay which flashes a light over Mr. and Mrs. White's bed until they awaken. Another automatic flash attachment enables them to "hear" the alarm clock.

Gets Co-eds' Goat

Cleveland (AP)—Drama at Cleveland college: Custodian John Emrich found a stamped letter in an empty classroom and promptly mailed it. Half an hour later a pretty young co-ed inquired if he had found it. "Yep. Mailed it for you, too," Emrich reported. The co-ed screamed and screamed. "You shouldn't have done it. I'm not mad at him anymore.

German Press Alleges Willkie of Semitic Line

Berlin, March 13 (AP)—The German press today gave prominent position to stories alleging that a Jew was responsible for Wendell L. Willkie's grandfather leaving Germany.

The Berliner Zeitung said vital statistics of the town of Aschersleben, examined on a press tour, indicated:

First, the grandfather earned his living as a workman in that town, and second, that he was forced to emigrate from his homeland because he and his entire family had been cheated by a Jew.

DNB, official news agency, said Willkie's family was traced in an effort to refute a statement by the American that his grandparents migrated to the United States as a protest against tyranny.

The Berliner Zeitung said Willkie's grandfather was listed in the records as Joseph Wilhelm Willcke, a copper-smith who had hoped to carry on business in his deceased father's shop.

A family disagreement arose over the will, the newspaper said, whereupon the widow of the deceased, stepmother of Joseph Willcke, sold the property to a Jewish neighbor named Bernhard Gerson.

The article detailed an involved financial transaction in which, it was alleged, the widow received none of the purchase money but was dispossessed.

"Willcke had enough," the account continued, and "August 14, 1860, he embarked alone on the steamer Bavaria in Hamburg for America."

Temple Emanuel Services Listed

Services will be held in Temple Emanuel on Friday evening, March 14, at 7:45 o'clock. The pulpit will be occupied at that time by a guest speaker, Rabbi John J. Tepfer, who is a teacher in the Jewish Institute of Religion. Rabbi Tepfer's subject will be "The Nature of the Jewish Mind." Youth services will be held on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

A meeting of the Kingston Zionist District will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Temple Emanuel. The Hadassah Chapter of Kingston will also meet at Temple Emanuel Monday evening at the same hour. The program for the Zionist and Hadassah meetings will be a panel discussion by the men and women entitled, "Palestine, a Jewish Commonwealth or a Place of Refuge."

On Thursday evening, the high school group will meet at Rabbi Bloom's home, 90 Lucas avenue, at 8 o'clock.

MODENA

Modena, March 13—"Bringing Men to Christ" is the subject of the sermon, which the Rev. Frank P. Venable will deliver at the regular services to be held in the Modena Methodist Church on Sunday, March 16. Sunday school commences at 9 o'clock; church services at 10.

Members of the Senior and Junior choirs of the Modena Church are rehearsing for special music to be given in the church on Easter Sunday, April 13.

Tuesday evening, March 18, local people will attend the card and game party to be held at Mr. and Mrs. Myron Coon's home, near Plattekill village on the county road between Ardonia and Plattekill. The party is given under the auspices of the Modena Home Bureau unit. Refreshments will be served and awards made to those holding high scores in games.

The place of the next regular meeting of the Modena Home Bureau unit scheduled for Wednesday March 19, has been changed from Mrs. Albert Butler's home, near Ardonia, to the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall in Modena. This will be an all-day meeting, a food demonstration given by Mrs. Orville Seymour and Mrs. Simon DuBois; and a business session when the annual election of officers will be made. A good attendance is desired, and all members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Alice Hartshorn, Mrs. Freston Paltridge, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paltridge and Mrs. Lillian Harcourt are among grange members from this section who attended the New York State Pomona Grange meeting held in the Huguenot Grange Hall in New Paltz on Friday.

Local members of the Plattekill Grange attended the card party given by members of the service and hospitality committee of that organization, at Mrs. Madeline Alverado's home, in Plattekill Tuesday evening.

Members of the March and April committee of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Modena Methodist Church will make and sell clam-chowder each Friday of the months mentioned. Orders will be taken by any member of the committee, they being Mrs. William Doolittle, chairman; Mrs. Mrs. Lillie Rhodes, Mrs. Weygant Courter, Sr., Mrs. Freston Paltridge, Mrs. Richard Barclay, Mrs. Fred Bernard. Proceeds of the sale will benefit the Church treasury.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Coy and daughter Arline have moved from the Monell Bungalow to one of the tenant houses of Peter Smith, near the Modena depot.

Mrs. Christian Matheisen, Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. Joseph Hasbrouck, Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. Gershom Mount, Mrs. Roy Jensen, Mrs. Eber Palmer, Mrs. Eber Coy, Mrs. Harry Sutton, Mrs. Tracey Coutant, Mrs. Siah Roosa, Mrs. William Barrett, Mrs. George Alheusen represented the Modena Home Bureau unit at the spring style show given in the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston, Monday afternoon, under the auspices of the Ulster County Home Bureau. The show was to be held on Saturday but owing to the severe snow and sleet storm, postponement was made to Monday afternoon. Dresses were modeled and handmade rugs displayed to excellent advantage.

Roger Crawshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Crawshaw of Newburgh, former residents of this section, is one of the 35 selectees who will leave Newburgh on Monday for a year's training in an army camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Freston Paltridge entertained relatives at their home Sunday.

Mrs. Clara Bahrs entertained relatives from New Jersey at her home recently.

Members of the Ulster County Farm Bureau held an all-day meeting Tuesday in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall, when various phases of fruit industry was discussed and lectured about. A roast beef dinner was served at noon, under the direction of the Community Hall committee, with Mrs. Ransel Wager as general chairman, assisted by women of the community. Between 150 and 175 people attended the afternoon meeting, and 100 were served at dinner.

A person who kicks a lot will never have the world at his feet.

Neighbor—Is Junior's dog a Setter or a Pointer?

Junior's Mother— He neither He's an upsetter and a disappointer.

The hardest time to get the baby to sleep is when she's eighteen.

Boss—Rastus, do you know what the 'A. D.' on the cornerstone of that building stands for?

Rastus—Ah sure do, Boss, it stands for 'All Done.'

The army has a new rifle which fires so rapidly, they say, that it shoots eight times before you realize you didn't know it was loaded.

Father—Junior, I am rather shocked. I have had a note from your teacher in which she tells me that you are last in a class of 30 boys and girls. What have you to offer as an explanation for such marks?

Junior—Well, Dad, I am sorry, but it might have been worse.

Father—How could it have been worse?

Junior—It might have been a larger class!

If You Are Interested In The Welfare Of Others They Are Reasonably Likely To Be Interested In You.

Florence—My husband considered a long time before he proposed to me. He was very careful.

Jeanette—Ah, it is always those careful people who get taken in.

People who are afraid that they will do too much work never have any cause for fear on that particular subject.

Teacher—Junior, what is an adult?

Junior—An adult is one that has stopped growing except in the middle.

The sap is running, according to a newspaper headline. This goes for various political campaigns as well as for trees, shrubs, and the like.

Wife—I've hunted everywhere dear! Have we any sandpaper?

Hubby—No, but you can use a suit of my wool underwear.

GRANGE NEWS

Rosendale Grange

The regular meeting of the Rosendale Grange was held in their hall on Monday evening, March 10. After the meeting the young people of the Grange enjoyed dancing. Worthy Lecturer Melvin Fein brought his radio to the hall so the young members could dance. Dartball and other games were played.

I. C. Barnes, insurance agent for the Grange, gave an enlightening talk on Grange insurance.

Mrs. Neal Hotaling, past chairman of the service and hospitality committee, reported that her committee had won third prize in the county for work done in her Grange and community.

Those who attended Pomona Grange at Huguenot Grange in New Paltz were: Mrs. Rose Hasbrouck, Mrs. J. Freer, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brodsky, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mollenhauer, Mrs. Neal Hotaling, Mrs. Evelyn Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paradies.

Worthy Lecturer Melvin Fein presented the following program:

The theme was "Herald the Arrival of Spring."
Song by Grange—"Battle Hymn of the Republic" Poem—"Trees" ....
Mrs. Neal Hotaling
Detailed report of radio broadcast of our Grange over WKNY ....
Edward Brodsky
Song by Grange—"Loves Old Sweet Song"
Reading—"The Snow Man" .....
Melvin Fein
Game—Let's go fishing, conducted by Mrs. L. Hill. Those who participated were: Tenders of the nets, Fred Roeltgen and Mr. Claus; fishermen, equipped with pole and line, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dietz, Arthur Hahn and Edward Brodsky. Prize was awarded to Mrs. Floyd Deitz. The game caused great fun. The fish were frankfurters swung from a long line across the room and kept swinging by the net tenders.
Closing song—"All Through the Night"

On Thursday, March 20, the Grange will sponsor a card party. Every one welcome. The next regular meeting will be on Monday, March 24. At this time degrees will be conferred on a large class of candidates.

The refreshment committee includes Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vaughn, Mrs. Mina Slater, Miss Louise Rossler, Mrs. Rose Hasbrouck, Rudolf Rossler, Mr. and Mrs. George May, Mrs. Mary L. O'Connor, Mrs. Henry Myers, Ernest Rossler, Frank McCardle and Donald Schryver.

Burial 9 Years Later

Nine years after her death, the last wish of Christina Winn, of Sydney, Australia, has been complied with. She died at the age of 69, having expressed the wish that her last resting place should be Johannesburg, South Africa, where she was born. Her daughters had difficulty in getting permission to bury her in the old cemetery she had named. They instructed the undertaker to embalm the body and keep it in his chapel until arrangements were completed. Now it has been laid at rest in the Johannesburg cemetery.

'Men Wanted' Signs Go Up at Arms Plants

By FREDERICK GARDNER
AP Feature Service

New York—The "Help Wanted" signs will be out on the employment gates of scores of new war industry factories destined for completion in the United States in the next twelve months.

Payrolls have been climbing sharply in aircraft, shipbuilding, machine tool, steel and other industries holding the bulk of the $15,000,000,000 in arms contracts for home and British defenses.

But the big climb in jobs as result of Uncle Sam's mighty armament program seems to be ahead—particularly in the final half of this year.

May End Unemployment

Construction engineers through the winter have been rushing work on numerous projects for expansion of aircraft, shipbuilding, munitions and miscellaneous machine-industries. When they are ready for operation, hundreds of thousands of workers must be employed to man the machines and start the flow of material to the growing fighting forces.

Through this re-armament effort, some analysts figure, the United States finally may be able to liquidate its unemployment. Projecting the trends, some estimate the jobless would be largely absorbed by the middle of next year, when defense output is expected to attain its peak under the present program.

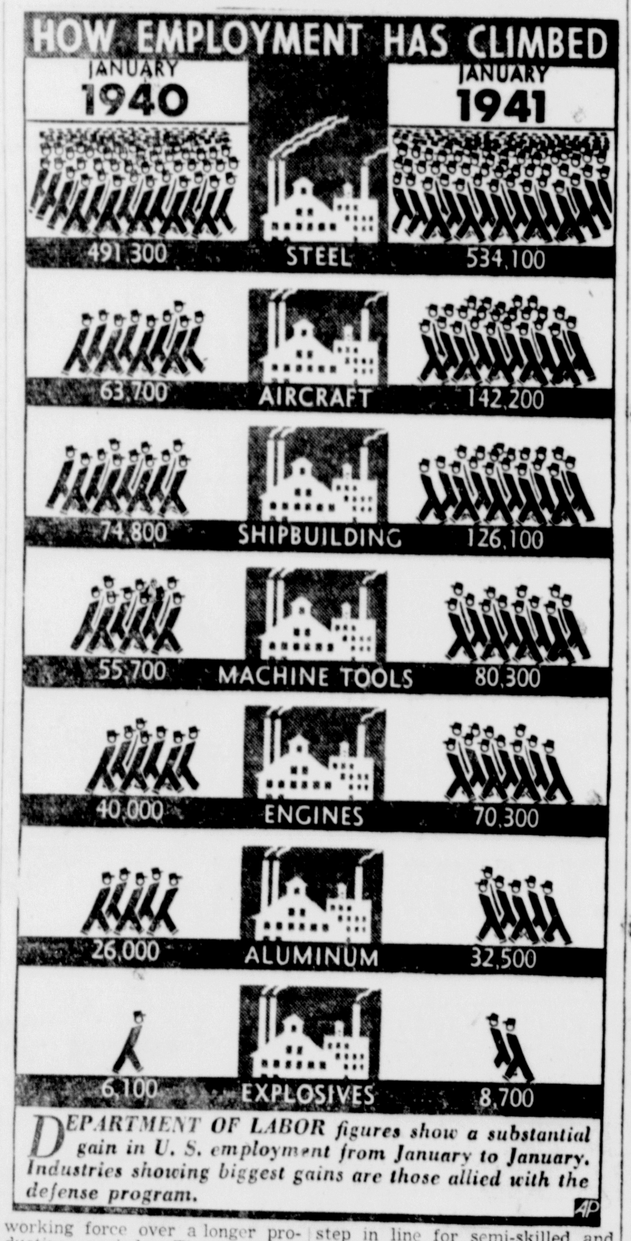

Some residue of unemployed may remain, even at the height of activity in war industry, it was conceded. However, that was true even in the flush times of the first post-war decade.

Agree on Labor Gains

Calculations as to jobless totals differ. Estimates at the close of last year ranged from 5,000,000 to around 7,000,000 in some quarters. The figures agree, however, in showing a steady decline in unemployment since the United States tossed its gigantic industrial resources into the arms race.

Employment, as figured by the National Industrial Conference Board, a private research organization supported mainly by corporations, increased nearly 2,000,000 last year, counting additions to the labor force.

Skilled workers already have gone to a premium in some industries. Overtime is being paid in many plants to stretch the working force over a longer productive period. Thousands of young workers are being trained at defense industry centers to step in line for semi-skilled and skilled tasks when the work whistles sound at factories now building.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR figures show a substantial gain in U. S. employment from January to January. Industries showing biggest gains are those allied with the defense program.

"Ain't She a Beaut?"

"Death Valley" Scotty, scheduled to appear in a Los Angeles court for the trial of a suit in which Julian Gerard is demanding 22½ per cent of Scotty's holdings, came into the city sporting this black eye. "Ain't she a beaut?" he asked, going on to explain he was slapped in the eye by the bridle on his mule when the animal tried to kiss him.

ARDONIA

Ardonia, March 13—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paltridge, Mrs. Lillian Harcourt, daughter Barbara and Frank Gaffney from this place attended the Ulster County Pomona Grange meeting in the New Paltz Grange Hall, Friday, March 7. At this time 12 candidates were obligated in the fifth degree by I. C. Baines of New Paltz. Several committee chairmen reported on activities. Highlights of the lecturer's hour consisted of an inspiring talk on preventable waste by fire, by Fire Chief Murphy of Kingston. A reading on co-operation by Mrs. McCormick; a monologue, Contradiction by Mrs. Alice Hartshorn; a solo, "In the Hush of the Twilight Hour" by Mrs. Dressel; a recitation by Mr. Gaffney and finally magic tricks by Mr. Schrieber.

Mr. and Mrs. Eber Palmer, daughters Marlene and Annette were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Conklins in Clintondale.

Among local farmers who attended the Farm Bureau meeting and roast beef dinner in Hasbrouck Memorial Hall on Tuesday were: Eber Palmer, Eber Coy, Eugene Paltridge, Forrest Imperato, John Smith, Gershom Mount and Frank Gaffney. One hundred people were served by the committee in charge.

Mrs. Myron Coons will be hostess to the Home Bureau card party, March 18.

Mrs. Eber Palmer, Mrs. Roy Jensen, Mrs. Eber Coy Mrs. Gershom Mount attended the Home Bureau exhibit and style show at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston, Monday.

Local ladies of the Womans Society of Christian Service were in Modena, Monday and Tuesday quilting.

At the Ulster County Pomona Grange meeting Friday, March 7, at New Paltz, a resolution was passed favoring the continuation of the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival.

Mrs. Dick Ronk was a caller in Modena Monday.

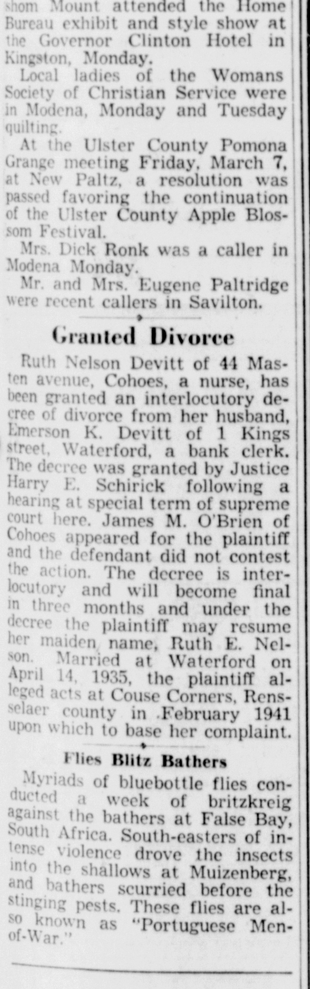

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paltridge were recent callers in Savilton.

Granted Divorce

Ruth Nelson Devitt of 44 Masten avenue, Cohoes, a nurse, has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband, Emerson K. Devitt of 1 Kings street, Waterford, a bank clerk. The decree was granted by Justice Harry E. Schirick following a hearing at special term of supreme court here. James M. O'Brien of Cohoes appeared for the plaintiff and the defendant did not contest the action. The decree is interlocutory and will become final in three months and under the decree the plaintiff may resume her maiden name, Ruth E. Nelson. Married at Waterford on April 14, 1935, the plaintiff alleged acts at Couse Corners, Rensselaer county in February 1941 upon which to base her complaint.

Flies Blitz Bathers

Myriads of bluebottle flies conducted a week of britzkreig against the bathers at False Bay, South Africa. South-easters of intense violence drove the insects into the shallows at Muizenberg, and bathers scurried before the stinging pests. These flies are also known as "Portuguese Men-of-War."

mission from the United States treasury.

In this manner, approximately $4,500,000,000 of European assets in the United States have been tied up. Addition of Hungary to the list, however, added little to the total. The commerce department estimated that Hungarians had about $250,000 of investments in the United States plus a small amount of cash or short term securities.

American investments in Hungary, which are affected indirectly because of difficulties in financial transactions between the two countries as a result of the order, exceed $52,000,000.

Other countries on the "frozen" list are Norway, Denmark, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Lithuania, Estonia, Rumania and Bulgaria.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

Kerhonkson P.-T. A.

Speaking before an over-crowded auditorium, Frederick Snyder, noted world traveler and lecturer, astonished his hearers by the rapidity with which he jumped from country to country in his survey of the present world crisis. Mr. Snyder pointed out the dangers to the United States and called upon all citizens to exercise caution and common sense in their interpretation of the steady stream of propaganda which is being directed at the American people.

The speaker was introduced by Parent-Teacher Association Program Chairman Millard Davis. Mr. Davis also introduced to the group Al Kurdt, Farm Bureau agent.

The Rondout Valley Glee Club sang patriotic numbers as part of the program.

Mrs. Millard Davis, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, announced that the next speaker would be Dr. Mary Fisher, professor of Euthenics, at Vassar College. Dr. Fisher will speak on the subject, "Our School of the Future." Wednesday evening, April 2.

Child Is Victim of Fire Thought Set by Brothers

Fire, believed started by her brothers while playing with matches, caused the death of Thelma, 10-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill, when a two-story frame house at 238 North street, Middletown, was damaged by fire Tuesday afternoon. The child was asleep in a bassinet in a room adjoining the living room where her three brothers, aged 5, 4 and 2 years respectively, were playing. The three boys were rescued by Alvin Burnett, a painter, working on a house on an adjoining street. Flames had gathered too much headway to permit his returning for the baby. Another child, a girl, was not in the house at the time of the fire.

He Pays Penny

Knoxville, Tenn., March 13 (AP)—A W.P.A. worker filed his income tax return here and learned he owed the government half a cent. A deputy collector of Internal Revenue explained the department had no mills to give in change. The taxpayer paid a penny.

Stuart Walker Dies

Beverly Hills, Calif., March 13 (AP)—Stuart Walker, 53, noted producer and playwright, died of a heart attack early today. Walker was the founder of the Portmanteau theatre. He directed repertory theatres in Buffalo, Detroit, Indianapolis and Cleveland before becoming a motion picture producer.

Women to Meet

The regular monthly business meeting of the Service Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church will be held Friday, March 14 at 10 o'clock. The business meeting will be at 12 o'clock followed by luncheon. The president hopes for a large attendance.

Many Legislators Favor Wicks' Proposal to Issue $200,000,000 in Road Bonds

Many legislators are now in favor of another proposed constitutional amendment, sponsored by State Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city, calling for a $200,000,000 bond issue to be expended over five and a half years for highway-parkway improvement, according to the Associated Press today.

The legislature completing an annual "battle of the budget," by adopting a Republican $384,200,000 "economy" program, headed today toward a possibly greater squabble financing highway construction.

Other legislative developments as leaders pushed for early April adjournment included proposals by Republican chieftains for:

Legislation permitting any city to impose a tax on business turnover with no restriction on the use of revenue.

Creation of boards of inquiry to explore labor disputes as a means of forestalling strikes.

An $80,000 appropriation for establishment of a division of commerce in the executive department.

Well pleased with their budget cuts yesterday for the third successive year Republican leaders predicted the governor would "have to take" the party's $1,270,000 slash in his proposed defense funds and also permit enactment of the G.O.P.'s $1,600,000 increases in appropriations for town and county roads and county fairs.

Republicans Concerned

Republicans, however, admittedly were concerned over the dispute on methods of paying for state highway development — a controversy that mounted after yesterday's public hearing on the subject.

Leaders acknowledged that developments had erased their earlier certainty the legislature would approve the governor's plan for diverting $60,000,000 of grade crossing elimination funds to highways.

Many legislators, they said, now favor another proposed constitutional amendment, sponsored by Senator Arthur Wicks, Kingston Republican, calling for a $200,000,000 bond issue to be expended over five and a half years for highway-parkway improvement.

The diversion method was approved by the last legislature and must be passed again before submission to the people next fall. The Wicks measure also would be sent to the electorate if passed at the present session.

Plan Is Opposed

The public hearing on the two proposals brought opposition to the diversion plan from representatives of hotel associations, railroads, many business organizations, county board of supervisors and municipal and town officials, who maintained that funds designated for grade crossings should not be used in any other manner.

Most speakers advocated legislative approval of the $200,000,000 bond issue which would be amortized by state retention of one-quarter of the four-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax.

Meanwhile, Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Senator Joe R. Hanley, Republican leaders of Assembly and Senate respectively, announced their sponsorship of a permissive business turnover tax for cities which could be imposed, they said, to help a locality meet expenditures or "to give relief to its real estate taxpayers."

The measure would allow a municipality to levy on gross receipts of all business over $10,000. A one-tenth of one per cent impost could be imposed on financial enterprises and one-twentieth of one per cent on others.

While leaders insisted the proposal "should not be confused in any way" with a sales tax, they felt the levy would block agitation for that type of tax.

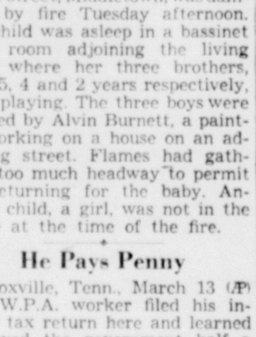

Eclipse Seen at Syracuse

Syracuse, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—Early stages of the only eclipse of the moon visible in the United States during 1941 were observed here this morning for about 15 minutes before the moon set at 6:18 o'clock. "After a few clear moments the phenomenon became obscured by haze as the moon began to set," according to Dr. W. R. Frederickson, director of Holden observatory at Syracuse University. In New York, planetarium officials and amateur astronomers gathered in the observation tower of the Empire State Building but found the sky too hazy to see the eclipse.

Telegram Asks Aid For Brockton Survivors

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy this morning received the following telegram: "This is an appeal for assistance toward raising a fund for relief of the 12 bereaved widows and 26 children of our gallant fire fighters who heroically met death Monday in nation's fire catastrophe. Please pass the word to the men in your stations with the request that a canvass be made of all stations under your jurisdiction and community. Kindly pass this to Police Chief Charles Phinney for consideration his department. Contributions publicly acknowledged. Gratefully."

The telegram is signed Mayor Fred D. Rowe, Firemen's Disaster Relief Committee of Brockton, Mass.

Spareribs, which are rib ends of pork, are noted for their fine, delicate flavor. As their name indicates, they do not contain much meat, but that is unusually good as well as tender. Because of their delicious taste, spareribs are used to add to the savor of foods cooked with them. Spareribs and saurkraut are a popular combination. A bread dressing, between two sections of spareribs, makes a substantial and appetizing dish.

SPARERIBS OF PORK

Spareribs are well named. But the meat which they contain is tender and fine in flavor. These are the rib end sections of pork. Two sections may be fastened together and a dressing placed between Spareribs are cooked by braising and like other cuts of fresh pork are best when given long, slow cooking in moist heat. They are browned either at the beginning or the end of the cooking period. A spicy barbecue sauce blends excellently with the delicious flavor of crisply browned spareribs.

Barbecued Spareribs

3 pounds spareribs
1 medium onion
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
4 tablespoons lemon juice
1 small bottle catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon mustard
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup water
Salt and pepper

To Please an Epicure

Stuffed spareribs with spiced apples for garnish, make a delicious dish. Brown the ribs, then cover and cook slowly. Two sections are sewed together here and a dressing placed between them.

Have spareribs cut into pieces for serving. Place in a baking dish and put in a moderate oven, uncovered, until they are browned, about thirty minutes. In the meantime, make a barbecue sauce by browning the onion in butter, adding other ingredients and cooking slowly for twenty minutes, until the flavors are blended. Pour the sauce over the browned spareribs and cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until done, about thirty minutes longer.

Spareribs and Sauerkraut

3 pounds spareribs
3 cups sauerkraut
¼ cup brown sugar
Salt and pepper

Choose spareribs which have a layer of meat on them. Place on a rack in a roasting pan. Place in a hot oven (500 degrees) for twenty minutes or until nicely browned. Then reduce the oven temperature to 300 degrees. Place sauerkraut on the ribs. Sprinkle with brown sugar and return to the oven. Bake until spareribs are thoroughly done about one hour.

Spareribs Stuffed with Chestnuts

3 pounds spareribs
2 cups cooked chestnuts
1 cup dry bread crumbs
½ cup hot water
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/3 cup melted butter
2 teaspoons lard
¼ teaspoon pepper

While the chestnuts are hot, mash or put them through a ricer. Mix the crumbs and hot water and let stand two minutes. Then combine crumbs with chestnuts and all other ingredients.

Trim the ends of the ribs neatly. Crack them crosswise the entire length in two places. Fill the ribs with the stuffing, fold the ends over and tie to hold in place. Put in a roasting pan and brown the meat in a hot oven. Reduce the temperature, cover the pan and cook until tender, about one hour.

Another way is to use two matching sections of spareribs. Place one in a baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and pile chestnut stuffing on top. Lay second section on top of dressing and cook in a moderate oven.

Germany has sent an average of 50 trains of coal daily through the Altdorf valley in Switzerland to Italy this winter.

EXPLAINING TO MAYOR

Michael J. Quill (right), president of the C. I. O. Transport Workers' Union, leans over as he explains a point to pipe smoking Mayor LaGuardia in New York when union representatives and officials of Manhattan's two major bus lines met concerning settlement of a three-day-old strike. Looking on is Allan Haywood, national C. I. O. organizer. The mayor indicated in a formal statement that both sides had agreed to submit their differences to mediation in an effort to settle the strike that has thrown 95 per cent of Manhattan's surface transportation out of gear.

Emergency Rules To Be Continued, Signs Would Show

To those who attended the hearing in Albany on Wednesday before Governor Herbert H. Lehman it seemed certain that the request of Mayor LaGuardia of New York city to continue in force the emergency rules governing fishing in the Ashokan reservoir and other properties of the New York city water supply would continue in force for another year.

Among those from Ulster county who attended the hearing yesterday were President Nelson W. Snyder of the Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association and "Bud" Fromer, Jr., of Albany avenue.

Instead of the stormy session that marked the hearing last October when the emergency order was being considered the meeting yesterday was very peaceful. Various representatives of clubs from Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess and Greene counties attended the hearing yesterday and said they were satisfied with the arrangements whereby the New York city water supply issues special permits for boating and fishing on the reservoirs.

It is expected that the emergency order that went into effect last year will be continued in effect this year.

President Gillespie of the New York water supply read a letter from Mayor LaGuardia asking for a year's extension. It was not intended by the city of New York it was stated to interfere with the sports of law-abiding citizens.

In Colorado a state law requires that all material collected by janitors from wastebaskets in county courthouses shall be held 24 hours before being destroyed. It is a precaution against an employe placing an important official document in the basket by error.

Re-Elected President Of Musical Society

MRS. M. B. DOWNER

Mrs. Mortimer B. Downer was re-elected president of the Musical Society of Kingston to serve for another year at the annual election of officers held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. Noble Graham, 21 Janet street.

Others chosen to serve with Mrs. Downer on the executive committee were Mrs. Raymond H. Rignall, vice-president; Mrs. John Snyder, secretary and Mrs. John L. MacKinnon, treasurer.

At the business meeting it was announced that the April meeting had been advanced to the first week in the month because of Holy Week and that subsequent meetings would be held the second Wednesday of the month and not the second Tuesday as listed in the printed programs.

Announcement was also made that Dr. Charles Gilbert Spross had composed a new chorus for women's voices, "The Algerian Cycle" and had dedicated it to the Musical Society of Kingston.

The program for the evening was on the "The Music of Mexico and Central and South America" arranged by Mrs. Maurice W. Venno and Miss Margaret Howe, and presented by Miss Howe.

In the paper on Mexican music written by Mrs. Venno the sources of the music of the country and the three types were discussed. It also showed the influence of the traditions of conquering nations on the music today.

In illustration of Mrs. Venno's paper several musical numbers were given. These included the singing of "Canto a la Bandero" by a group consisting of Mrs. Mortimer B. Downer, Mrs. Warren Ingalsbe, Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw, Mrs. John L. MacKinnon, Mrs. LeRoy Vogt, Mrs. Raymond Rignall with Mrs. Henry Dunbar as soloist and Mrs. Lloyd R. LeFever as accompanist.

Another vocal ensemble under the direction of Mrs. William S. Eltinge sang a Mexican folk-song, "Flor de Changunga" and the Mexican national anthem. In this group were Mrs. Clarence Wolfersteig, Miss Alberta Davis, Mrs. Lester F. Decker, Mrs. John MacKinnon and Mrs. Ingalsbe.

Mrs. Henry Millonig, Jr., presented a rhythm band consisting of Mrs. Wolfersteig, Mrs. Vogt, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. LeFever and Mrs. Rignall, accompanied by Mrs. Walter T. Tremper, which showed the rhythms of the Mexican dances and played and sang two folk songs.

The second half of the program was devoted to the music of Central and South America. The musical program was given along with the reading of the paper which covered the influence of the Indians, African negros and Spain, with illustrations of characteristic folk songs of several of the countries.

Martinique was represented with a piano solo "Sirop est Doux," played by Miss Catherine McCommons; Puerto Rico by a duet, "La Perla," sung by Mrs. Laidlaw and Mrs. Rignall; Argentine by "Adios Te Digo" sung by Mrs. Clarence Wolfersteig; Peru by "Yarravi," sung by Mrs. Wolfersteig; Brazil by "Cabocla Bonita," sung by Mrs. Laidlaw and Mrs. Rignall; Chile by "El Tortillero," sung by the duet again and Cuba by "Tu," played as a piano solo by Miss McCommons.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Wolfersteig and Mrs. Bernard J. Forst.

Birthday Party

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Coutant of New Paltz Sunday evening in honor of the birthday of Mr. Coutant. The color scheme for the dining table was pink and blue with pink roses forming the centerpiece. Those present from New Paltz were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith, Mr. and Mrs. M. DePew and Morgan Coutant, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coutant and son of Poughkeepsie, Mrs. Harriet Paradies, Mr. and Mrs. J. Marx and Miss Eleanor La Mare of Tillson. The guest of honor received many lovely gifts.

German Drama Studied

The study of German drama was continued at the Wednesday meeting of Atharhacton Club held at the home of Mrs. Charles Arnold on Manor avenue. Miss Florence Cordts presented the paper on Goethe and Schiller. She traced the life of both men, explaining that they are better known in America as poets than as dramatists. Several of the stories of Goethe's dramas were traced in detail and selections were read from "Faust." "The Maid of Orleans," "William Tell" and "Wallenstein" by Schiller were also reviewed. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. William Kingman.

John Seagle to Sing Here

The Sunshine Class of the First Baptist Church will present John Seagle, recording and radio artist, at the church hall Friday evening, April 4 at 8 o'clock. Mr. Seagle is being brought to this city through the courtesy of the Lee Sheppard artists service of WGY, Schenectady.

John Seagle, a recording artist, is best known for his radio work where his audience and popularity are world-wide. As a boy, he was solo-chorister at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York city, being engaged as a soloist with the New York Symphony Society under Walter Damrosch, and at the Worcester Festival of Music under Horatio Parker.

In spite of his success as a radio artist, John Seagle has not been content to let his efforts rest there. He has steadily forged ahead as a concert singer, in which capacity he'll appear at the First Baptist Church next month. Through his mastery of vocal technique he is one of the most successful and most truly significant among the younger American concert artists.

Mr. Seagle is now featured on the program, "The Church in the Wildwood," heard over many stations. This program broadcast is sent abroad by short-wave as well as in the United States. He formerly appeared with the "Cavaliers' Quartet," a popular group heard on the Cities' Service radio program.

Suppers-Food Sales

The food sale which was to have taken place Saturday, March 15, at Wonderly's store under the auspices of Mrs. Thomas Reynolds' Sunday school class of St. James Methodist Church has been postponed until further notice.

A. O. H. Auxiliary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of A. O. H., Division 5, will meet this evening in the Polish-American Hall on Delaware avenue, starting at 8 o'clock. All members are urgently requested to attend. Mrs. James Geary will be hostess.

Wife Got FAT—
No Longer Attractive
LOST HUSBAND'S LOVE
The above headlines appeared in a New York newspaper in connection with a divorce trial that had attracted wide attention: "She was a beautiful woman" one witness testified, "but she got fat and is not attractive any more."
Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do. If you are fat, how would you like to lose some of it and at the same time gain in physical charm and attractiveness—more energy—greater activity?
Why not do what thousands of women have done to get rid of pounds of unwanted fat? Take ½ teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts (a famous English formula) in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast and keep it up for thirty days. Cut out pastries and fatty meats and go light on white bread, potatoes, butter and cream. Then weigh yourself and see how many pounds you have lost.
A bottle of Kruschen Salts will last you for 4 weeks and costs but little. Ask United Cut Rate Pharmacy or any druggist for a bottle of Kruschen, plain or new effervescent—sparkling—pleasant—and start today to lose fat. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back. —Adv.

WOMEN PLANNING TO USE GIRLS AS "PAGES" AT STATE CONVENTION ARE TOLD "USHER" IS PROPER TERM

As information apart from answering the actual question in a letter, I want to say that girls should never be called "pages" since this name is a definitely masculine one, suitable only to boys. Girls may quite properly be called "ushers." The letter says this: "I am on the committee for arrangements for a state convention at which time our local chapter will act as hostesses. I have been told to choose some of the young daughters of members to serve as pages at the convention meetings. I have to appeal to you for help because I don't know what instructions to give the girls."

Frankly, neither do I know exactly, because the meaning of the word "page" is a messenger boy. Are the girls to seat people or are they to act as messengers? Hazarding a guess, I imagine that the girls will either hand out (or sell) programs or else seat people. For this they must of course be familiar with the locations assigned to the various delegations. During the sessions they should be posted where they can be called. They should be provided with small pads and pencils so that notes can easily be written by members wanting to send messages to the platform or to each other.

Serving Gravy

Drs. Mrs. Post: Please tell me how to serve gravy—with a ladle or may it be poured from the spout? Is it proper for my maid to pass the gravy boat on its matching plate or must this be stood on a serving tray to be passed?

Answer: It would be better to equip it with a ladle because if poured it is almost certain to drip. If it is of silver and has its own plate, and if this is very wide so that it takes the place of a tray, it may be held on a napkin. If it is of china, it should be passed on a try.

When to Announce an Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you think it a good plan to wait until nearer the time of our marriage to announce my engagement since I have my ring and yet it will very likely be a year before we can marry. Isn't it all right to announce our intentions anyhow, now Mother seems to think not, and says no one is doing it.

Answer: There is no rule about when you announce your engagement. Your mother is right, however, in saying that most people do put it off until later, but the only reason for this is that it avoids the endless questions about when and where they will be married that are idly asked of all engaged people, until the situation becomes litereally unbearable. In other words, announcing your engagement is a question of your own preference, and not one of propriety or convention.

Weddings Set Records

Matrimony set new high records in South Austrilia by a series of weddings at Emu Bay, Kangaroo Island. Tom, Bob, and Harold Jacka, brothers, married respectively Rose, Pearl and Jessie Turner, sisters. Two other Turner sisters wed two brothers Beil. Another sister, brother and niece exchanged vows with two brothers and a sister of the Barrett family.

Make Big Noise

Roanoke, Va. (AP) — The young son of a construction worker at a big powder plant at nearby Radford expressed alarm about the safety of his father because, he said, there had been a big explosion. When Scoutmaster Carl Poff seemed skeptical, the boy pointed to a newspaper headline: "Boom spreads over Radford."

Testimony Taken In Knauth Case

Mrs. Knauth Asks Court Grant Separation

Testimony in the separation suit brought by Frances Knauth against Berthold Knauth, Kingston residents, was taken this morning before Justice Francis Bergen at chambers. Charles de la Vergne appeared for the plaintiff and Maurice A. Baker was attorney of record for the defendant.

While the separation action was being tried in chambers a jury was taken in a negligence action brought by Salvatore Mauro, orchestra leader from Glasco against Allen Schibner of West Hurley, a former county highway employee. Flanagan and Kaercher by William A. Kaercher appeared for the plaintiff and Walter J. Miller and James G. Connelly appeared for the defendant.

The action was brought to recover for damages which the plaintiff claimed was suffered in a motor car crash at the corner of Downs street and Wiltwyck avenue. Mauro was proceeding toward Broadway on Downs street and Schibner was on his way to the county highway barn on Gage street, having come down from Albany avenue. Damage was done both cars.

Additions were made to the day calendar and Justice Bergan rearranged the calendar. Monday No. 11 and 187 are to be ready for trial followed by No. 197 and 19 on Tuesday or Wednesday with the following cases to follow No. 150, 87, 206, 88, 210, 93, 222, 243, 246 and 63.

Cases announced settled are: No. 40, John E. Amell and another vs. Henry Lovebridge, an action for work labor and services. Walter J. Miller for plaintiff and Jay Winston for defendant.

No. 21, Walter Horne and another vs. Goldie Cohen and another, an action to recover for personal injuries and personal property. Flanagan & Kaercher for plaintiff and Leroy Lounsberry for defendants.

No. 137, Mildren E. Shimer against James E. Van Orden and another, action to recover damages for injury to property caused by defendant's negligence in the operation of an automobile. Lloyd R. LeFevre for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant.

No. 154, Rudolph Klingenheben against Bertha Snyder, a negligence action, Lounsberry & Lonstein for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant.

No. 203, Lawrence K. Savercool against the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, an action for fraud or breach of contract, J. Wesley Vibbard for plaintiff and Choate Byrd Leon and Garretson for defendant.

It's All Cleared Up

New York, March 13 (AP)—For two days police investigated a rumored "murder farm" in Washington Square after W. P. A. laborers dug up three human skulls. They finally marked it "case closed" when someone recalled the section was a potter's field from 1797 to 1823 and that 100,000 yellow fever victims had been buried there.

Fish Dishes to Catch the Family's Fancy

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

The things you can do with fish would fill a book.

Remember that and you won't get into trouble with your family even though you include fish in your menus several days each week

Here are some suggestions for varying your fish dishes during Lent:

* * *

FISH RING is smart enough to grace any luncheon or dinner table. Mix 1½ cups savory white sauce with a pound can (2 cups) of your favorite fish — salmon, tuna, or white fish will do. Add ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, ¼ teaspoon each of celery salt and paprika, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 3 eggs. Pour into well buttered ring and bake an hour in a pan of hot water at about 325 degrees. Unmold and pile creamed peas, mushrooms or hard-cooked eggs in the center. Tuck in cress or parsley for garnish.

* * *

FILET OF FISH, WAIKIKI
(See picture)

2 tablespoons butter
4 finely chopped shallots
6 filets of sole (or any other white fish)
1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley
Salt and pepper
1 cup canned unsweetened pineapple juice
1 cup clam broth (canned)
½ teaspoon mixed herbs

Pineapple Sauce

4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg yolk
Broth from fish

Spread a shallow baking pan with two tablespoons butter. Slice the shallots and place fish on top of them in the bottom of the pan. Sprinkle with parsley, salt, and pepper and the herbs, tied in a piece of cheesecloth. Bring the pineapple juice and clam broth to boiling and pour over the fish. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees) and simmer until fish is tender. Remove to a platter before sauce is prepared as follows: Melt butter, add flour and stir until smooth. Add broth from the fish (adding enough extra broth or water to make two cups) and cook at least five minutes, stirring constantly. Then add slightly beaten egg yolk and cook one minute more. Pour sauce over the fish, sprinkle with chopped parsley, and garnish with lemon slices, sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Filet of fish, Waikiki, with pineapple sauce, a suggestion for varying fish dishes during Lent.

If it is luncheon you are worrying about, try FISH SURPRISE. Melt ½ cup sliced cheese in 2 cups canned cream of mushroom soup—heated in double boiler. Stir well and add 1 cup soft crumbs, 3 beaten eggs, 1 cup cooked fish—shrimp or tuna suggested—1 tablespoon each chopped celery, parsley and pimientos, ¼ teaspoon salt, a speck of paprika and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Bake an hour in buttered baking dishes or custard cups, in pan hot water at about 325 degrees. Serve in the baking dishes. This makes a fine dish to serve the bridge club or an informal get-together. The recipe is enough for 4 or 5.

Spiced fruit or jellied relish salad should accompany this. Melba toast will appeal to the calorie counters. A fruit tart, frozen dessert or fresh fruit and cookies will give the proper sign-off.

It's the sauce that is fishy in VEGETABLE SUPREME, a cold dish that is grand with hot coffee, corn bread or hot rolls for luncheon. Fill a platter with chilled asparagus, sliced cucumbers, cooked peas, sliced radishes and minced celery. Put cress around the edges and sprinkle all with a tart French dressing. Return to the refrigerator for extra chill. The secret of this main dish is its iciness.

For the sauce: Mix a cup of mayonnaise with 3 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles, 2 hard-cooked eggs, cubed, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ⅛ teaspoon salt and 1/3 cup minced sardines.

* * *

Cook FILETS AU VEGETABLES in one dish and serve extra work for the housewife. Half-fill a buttered casserole with cooked peas and potatoes, cover with a well seasoned white sauce and top with fish filets. Sprinkle with flour, salt and paprika and spread generously with butter. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven, then scatter buttered crumbs over the top and bake 10 minutes. Cabbage salad is just right with this meal.

* * *

CREOLE STUFFING sets off fish steak to a queen's taste. Choose your favorite fish steaks—it will take two, weighing about a pound each. Wipe them with a damp cloth and sprinkle lightly with salt, paprika, minced parsley and lemon juice. Set one steak in a buttered shallow baking pan and cover with stuffing: Simmer 3 minutes in 3 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons each of chopped onions, parsley and green peppers. Mix in a cup of cubed white bread, cup boiled rice, 1 egg, beaten, and ¼ cup chili sauce. Cover with the other fish steak and spread with melted butter and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Bake an hour in a moderate oven. Baste several times with ½ cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. 1 tablespoon butter and a tablespoon chili sauce.

Your Dollar Buys More Today Than Decade Ago

In Washington, the Brookings institution, a private research organization, recently released a report disclosing some important developments in U. S. economy during the last 20 years.

Though industrial productivity (capacity to produce) has increased, industrial output has lagged. In the last 20 years, productivity in the electric power and light industry has increased 100 per cent, but its output rose only 36 per cent. In mining, there has been an 89 per cent increase in productivity, but only a 12 per cent increase in output. In railroading, productivity increased 43 per cent, but traffic declined 17 per cent. And in manufacturing, productivity rose 50 per cent but output only 25 per cent.

Because of increased industrial efficiency, the consumer has been getting more for his money. In 1936-'37, a dollar spent on an auto bought 23 per cent more product, and one of much better quality, than in 1923-'24. Purchasers of iron and steel got 30 per cent more for their money, consumers of paper and allied products 40 per cent more, and textile buyers 50 per cent more.

Homogenized Milk

Homogenized milk has been hailed as the greatest advance in milk processing since pasteurization.

It is milk in which the butterfat and other solids are broken up by 2,500 to 3,000 pounds pressure at 160 degrees temperature, and is more easily digested because the breaking up of the solids prevents the formation of large curds in the stomach.

The homogenization process removes the cream line—but not the cream. Both regular and A grade milk are to be processed.

Marketing was delayed at the instance of leading milk companies to allow time for a thorough study of value, uses and manufacturing details.

This included a study by Dr. Irving J. Wohlman in co-operation with Children's hospital and various feeding clinics in the use of the homogenized milk, and experiments in making of formulas without the boiling, filtering and cooling processes used with ordinary milk.

Harems Get Movie Show

After spreading propaganda among the Arabs, an Aden Information Officer has returned to Cairo, Egypt. Carrying talking picture equipment strapped on a camel he gave shows to more than 10,000 people of the Hadheramaut. They were most impressed by the pictures of the British Navy, Army and Royal Air Force. "The women insisted on having special harem shows," said the officer, "and took the greatest interest in pictures of the king, the queen, and the princesses."

The Smarties!

Goldsboro, N. C. (AP)—Officers seeking bootleg whisky searched a dwelling unsuccessfully and were about to leave when one of them turned a spigot for a drink of water—and got liquor. The pipes had been concealed behind the plaster and a still was in the attic.

Fire Fund Association Distributes $1,884

Kingston's Fire Fund Association met in the Central Fire Station on Wednesday evening to distribute approximately $1,884 among the 10 volunteer fire companies of the city as their share of the 2 per cent tax on policies written by insurance companies incorporated outside of the state.

From the 2 per cent tax had been deducted 10 per cent for the Firemen's Home in Hudson leaving 1.80 per cent of the tax to be divided among the local companies.

Edward J. Ryan of Twaalfskill Hose Company was elected secretary of the association to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George Schick of Wilbur.

Teresa Armstrong Dies

Istanbul, Turkey, March 13 (AP)—Teresa Armstrong, 23-year-old stenographer of the British legation in Sofia, died early today. Her death brought to four the number of dead in the suitcase bomb attempt on the life of George W. Rendel, British Minister to Bulgaria.

American exporters did $83,000,000 worth of business with Cuba in 1940.

Carl Brown of Monticello Ends DUSO Play With 99 Points

Bob Brown Close Behind in Scoring Records With 94

Rod Sagendorf Captures Third Place With 90; Carl Brown Will Appear Here Friday

Only one point below the century mark. That was Carl Brown's scoring total in the DUSO League of 1940-41. The Monticello ace, who'll appear here Friday evening against Middletown, scored 41 fields and 17 fouls for his 99 markers.

Another Brown, this one from Port Jervis, followed Carl in the list with 94 and Rod Sagendorf, a leader for most of the year, finished in third place with 90. Frankie Finn of Liberty scored 89.

Although failing to finish in either half for honors Kingston High School stood up better in the individual scoring ledger than any other club. Dick McConnell scored 62 points the hard way. McConnell dropped in 30 fields and only two free tosses for his score. Bud Luedtke tied McConnell's mark by 24 fields and 14 fouls.

Leahy to Employ 'Wide Open' Game

Hopes for Good Material at Notre Dame

South Bend, Ind., March 13 (AP)—Given a break in material, Frank Leahy is going to throw Notre Dame football "wide open" next fall.

The 32-year-old gridiron coach and athletic director, who formally began his new job yesterday at the opening of spring practice, said today that he plans to use the same style of offense with his new squad as he did at Boston College, where his 1939 and 1940 teams won 20 out of 22 games.

"If the material comes up we'll show them something different," said Leahy, successor to Elmer Layden who resigned to become commissioner of the National Pro Football League. "By that I don't mean that Layden didn't produce great teams here. His record of 47 wins, 13 defeats and three ties in seven years is a remarkable one which I only hope we can match.

"But at Boston College we tried 'goofy stuff,' quick opening plays, long passes and short passes. At Boston College we were fortunate in having a fine passer and runner in Charley O'Rourke. If we come up with a good passer here next fall, we'll really open up. We gambled at Boston College and we'll gamble here, if we have a chance."

Planthaber Wins Again

Fred Planthaber defeated Davie Brooks again last night at Nick Kaslich's Billiard Parlor and thereby won the special exhibition by 500 to 363. Brooks started off the match by leading his opponent 30 to 30 but the ace cueist rallied with two runs of 27 to overtake Brooks.

Still One of Best in City Basketball League

Although the sensational 16-game winning streak of the Cadets came to an end Tuesday night at the hands of the Joneses, The club still stands as one of the top teams in either the Division A or B. Before the Cadets were defeated, they riddled through Division B in the first half without a loss and then nearly completed the same task before meeting defeat Tuesday. Players making up this powerful club include left to right: Spencer "Whitey" Meyers, Ray Meyers, Ken Hornbeck, Ray "Lindy" Lindhorst, Max Toffel, Herbie Williams, Ed Snyder and Buddy Hughes.

Keglers Headed for Championship

Freeman Photo

One of the top-notch bowling aggregations in the City Bowling League is the Modjeska Sign Studio keglers who tied for first place during the 1939-40 season. Nearing the close of the maple campaign the Modjeska keglers have but four more matches to play and have a record of 45 wins and 18 setbacks. Their nearest rival trails by seven full games. Providing the Modjeskas continue their winning stride it appears as though another championship is assured for them: The Modjeskas hold on an enviable record in bowling circles, not only because of their fine performances, but due to their methods of fair play and good sportsmanship. Players on the Modjeska Sign Studio roster include left to right: Edward Modjeska, Reuben Leventhal, Charles Senor, Frank Mauro, Johnny Ferraro, John Edinger and Ben Fein.

Mungo in Line

Macon, Ga., March 13 (AP)—Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitcher who was fined $200 for breaking training and banished from the Dodgers' acmp at Havana last Sunday, is busily engaged in surprising everybody. Ordered to join Montreal, Dodgers' farm club now training here, he said everyone expected him to "go to my Pageland, S. C., home and suik." "Well, I'm not doing that. I'm doing just what they told me to do at Havana." He added that his orders were to "remain here very quietly, say nothing and get in shape." And he declared he'd do that.

Veterans Are Ready

Miami, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Golf's golden twenties will be resurrected Saturday when four oldtimers, who have won every championship worth owning, get together in Nassau for a Red Cross benefit match sponsored by the Duke of Windsor. Bobby Jones and Tommy Armour will team against Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen in a four-ball match sufficient to fire the imagination of every man who ever swung a golf club.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, March 13 (AP)—Hank Greenberg's new contract makes him the highest paid big leaguer (player, manager or club president) since Babe Ruth. Only Judge Landis' 65 grand per tops Hankus. . . . Attention, plungers: Billy Conn and Fritzie Zivic are pooling $12,500 each to bet Billy topples Joe Louis in June—at the right odds. . . . Pass No. 1 for the American Bowling Congress tourney starting today in St. Paul, went to Jack Dempsey. . . . Clipper Smith is in the Boston College running, all right, but nobody from that school went to Philly to talk to Clipper, as some of the boys reported.

Skipped That One

A Detroit promoter went before Boxing Commissioner John J. Hettche to get an O. K. for a Buddy Walker-Nick Florentino match. . . . "But who is this Florentino?" asked Hettche. . . . "Who is he?" screamed the promoter. . . . "He's only the guy who licked Jim Thompson, who licked Abe Simon who this commission says is good enough to fight Joe Louis right here in Detroit." . . . P. S.: Mr. Hettche passed.

Grapefruit League

Old Bill Klem who is calling the Dodger games in Havana, doesn't like Cuban grub and is subsisting almost entirely on American canned goods. . . . Beantown fans are writing letters to the papers picking the Bees to finish higher than the Red Sox. . . . Lou Nivkoff, star Cub rookie, has ordered a load of 37-ounce bats, heaviest any Cub has shouldered in seven years. Lou will be on the Bing Crosby program tonight and may do a little warbling. . . . Gilberto Torres, the Cuban knuckle ball artist who has been fooling the Dodgers no little, says he'll not return to Washington's Charlotte farm unless they pay him more than 50 frogskins a week. . . . Paul Derringer broadcasting: Ball players who play golf add five years to their careers.

Today's Guest Star

Jerry Mitchell, N. Y. Post: "Too bad they're not awarding the Nobel peace prize any more. . . . Brooklyn would have a real candidate in Babe Hamberger, the man who got Van Mungo out of Cuba without a shot being fired."

Around and About

Frank Leahy's shift to Notre Dame surprised his family as much as anybody. . . . Best you can get in Detroit is 2-1 Simon doesn't go the distance. . . . Coast reports members of the Marble-Hardwick-Tilden-Budge troupe now travel separately and are a bit aloof toward each other. Could it be too many "Marble wins, but Tilden steals show" headlines? . . . Swede Larson, Navy coach, is the No. 1 man on the winter banquet circuit. . . . If Deacon Bill McKechnie was a bit short tempered on the field the other day it was because when he deposited a mouthful of salad in his mouth he found it filled with pieces of broken china. . . . Washington fans apparently have forgotten the 73-0 rout by the Chicago Bears. Anyway, the Redskin advance sales are far ahead of the 1940 total.

Register Registers

The second annual "Baseball Register," (published by the St. Louis Sporting News) is bigger and better than the first. . . . (No charge for the ad, Editor Spink, even if you did win $1,300 on Bay View in the Santa Anita.)

One-Minute Interview

Pepper Martin: "Effort isn't enough for successful ball players. . . . Winners need that extra grunt." . . . And who should know better?

Southworth Has Plenty of Material

With Help From Pitchers Cards Will Be Strong

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Manager Billy Southworth of the St. Louis Cardinals admits that he has more good-looking young players than he knows what to do with for the time being. "And it's a comfortable sort of problem to have, too," he adds.

The Cards, after a disastrous start, came like the wind in the second half of the 1940 National League campaign under Southworth's leadership. They are bound to be stronger this year, and if a couple of their rookie pitchers come through they should give the champion Cincinnati Reds a genuine battle.

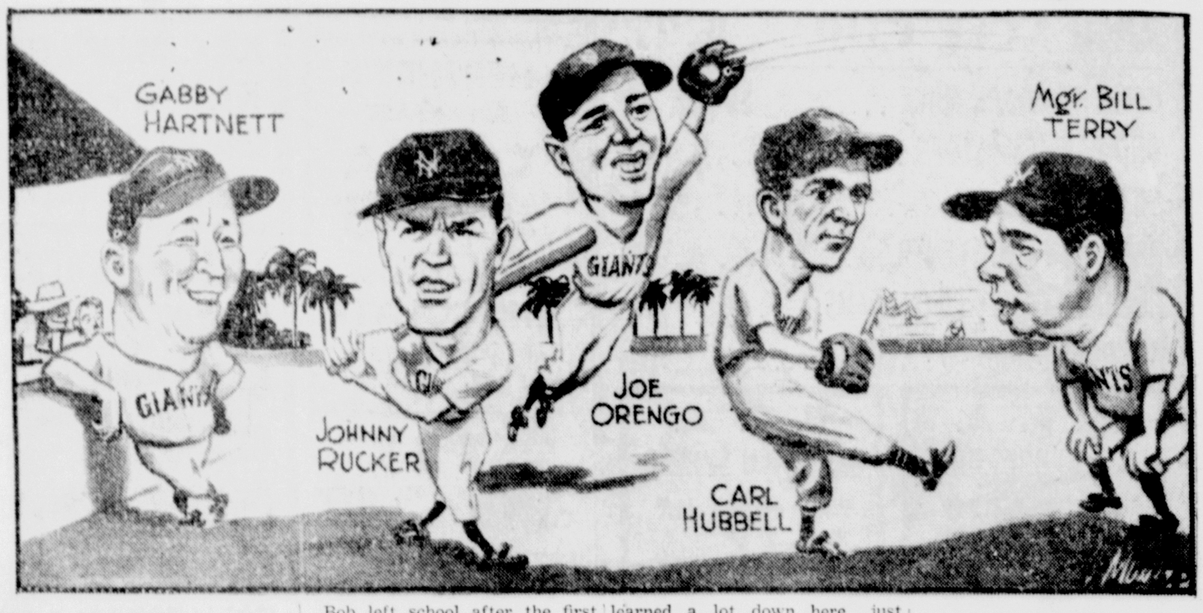

"We might be better," Southworth hedged, "but I'm not going to do any talking about beating Cincinnati—not as long as they have that pitching staff. As I see it, we're going to be in a three-cornered race with Cincinnati and Brooklyn, and I have a feeling Jimmy Wilson will whip those Chicago Cubs into a contender."

Playoff Postponed

The dartball playoff scheduled for Friday evening at the First Presbyterian Church between Hurley and Clinton Avenue, has been postponed until Wednesday evening, March 19, Bill Riel announced this morning. Club members who expected to attend this playoff are requested to note the change.

Alan Donelli, 155-pound halfback from Duquesne, may be a candidate for Jack Sutherland's Brooklyn Dodgers football team next fall. He would be one of the smallest players in the pro ranks.

Terry Calls Bob Foxx Fine 'Prospect'

New Yorkers Have Two Big Puzzle Spots

By DILLON GRAHAM

Sports Editor, AP Feature Service

Miami, Fla.—Major league baseball may soon have another Mister Double-X.

He's Bob Foxx, a larrupping outfielder down here in the New York Giants' training camp next door to Miami's football Orange Bowl.

Maybe the Orange Bowl will help you identify Bob. His exploits in that bowl made the headlines a couple of years ago when he was one of the University of Tennessee's greatest all-round football backs.

As a sophomore wingback he helped the Volunteers whip Oklahoma in the 1939 New Year's Day game. He was the wheel horse of the Tennessee team that went unbeaten for three seasons. Bob wound up his gridiron campaign in Tennessee's game last January 1 against Boston College in New Orleans' Sugar Bowl.

Bob left school after the first semester and came down to try his luck in pro baseball. He's going back next fall to finish and get his degree in physical education.

The American league has long boasted of its Jimmy Foxx and his slugging prowess. The National may be bragging before long about Bob.

Terry Likes Him

Bob likely won't approach Jimmy's lifetime average of .334, but Bill Terry thinks he'll be a real hitter. Bob is still about a year away and the Giants probably will send him to their Jersey City farm for the coming season.

Bob worked out last spring with the Knoxville team of the Southern association and Freddy Lindstrom, former Giant infielder, liked his looks and recommended him to Terry.

"He hits the ball hard, takes a nice cut, is fast and handles himself well in the field," Terry says. "I think he's a fine prospect."

Bob has never played pro ball. He had a batting average of better than .400 during his three years of varsity baseball at the University of Tennessee and batted well over .300 in two years of summer semi-pro ball. He played with Blackstone, Va., last summer and hit .325.

Prefers Baseball

"I like baseball two to one over football," Bob says. "I've already learned a lot down here, just watching these stars play, and I hope I'll be up there with them in a year or so." Bob is a good-looking, broad-shouldered youngster with curly blond hair. He weighs 185 and is 21.

Bob and another flycatcher, James Walter Maynard, are the best looking of the Giant rookies. Maynard led the Piedmont league at bat when he hit .337 for Richmond last year. He played a few games late in the season with the Giants. He likely will be sent out for another seasoning too.

Big Question Marks

The two big question marks on this club are Shortstop Bill Jurges and the pitchers. Jurges was out half of last season after he was beaned by Bucky Walters. He complained during the winter of dizzy spells and had a recurrence of the peculiar dizziness during workouts this spring. He's determined to stick out the full training period. With Bill well the Giants' infield would be set with Burgess Whitehead at second, Joe Orengo from the Cards at third and Babe Young at first.

The shift of Harry Danning to the outfield may cause a question mark behind the bat but Terry seems to think Ken O'Dea and Gabby Hartnett will take care of that problem without trouble.

The pitching staff is the same as last year plus Bump Hadley from the Yankees, Bob Bowman from the Cards and several rookies. The best of these in the early workouts were Ace Adams from Nashville, Bob Carpenter from Knoxville and Clydell Castleman, the former Giant who injured his back and spent last year with Jersey City.

Rose Manfro Hits Two New Records

Establishes New Marks for Single and Triple

Two seasonal records were established by Rose Manfro last night at the Central Recreation alleys as Hoffmans defeated the Barbizons in two games. Miss Manfro upset the pins for sensational scores of 234 and 593.

Her 234 single eclipses a previous mark made by Bea Coddington of Standards who rolled 221. Miss Manfro also set up a new triple with a score of 593. Miss Tillie Hobush formerly held the record at 570. The 593 is one of the biggest scores in the district this year.

Pinky Whitney's bowling alley at San Antonio, Tex., is getting a big play from the Browns and Bees On February 28, the former National League third sacker announced he hoped to arrange a match between the ace bowlers of the two rival big league squads, with souvenirs of the Alamo fortress awarded to the members of the winning quintette.

"We are happy to have Babe Dahlgren and Earl Averill on the club, but you can rest assured they will have to fight for their positions," declared Manager Casey Stengel of the Bees last week. "The men who show the most stuff in camp and in exhibition games will be the ones to start for us this season."

Eddie Joost, Cincinnati Reds; Joe Orengo, New York Giants, and Dominic DiMaggio, Boston Red Sox, crossed the country from San Francisco, Cal., to Florida in Joost' auto last week without shaving enroute. They resembled candidates for the House of David team when they reached Tampa the night of February 28, after being en route five days. Orengo, then unsigned, and a week and a half late at his club's Miami camp, remained in Tampa a day visiting with the Reds before going on to Miami. He was unable to make a train connection sooner.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

San Bernardino, Calif. — The Pittsburgh Pirates were weak in catching today in their exhibition against the Philadelphia Athletics. Al Lopez has a swollen hand, Spud Davis an injured ankle and Eddie Fernandez has the flu, leaving only Joe Schultz, Jr., ready for service.

Havana—Peewee Reese will be the "holler guy" in the Brooklyn Dodgers' infield this year. Manager Leo Durocher asked Reese to take charge last year but the Louisville youngster didn't want to bass veterans like Dolph Camilli and Cookie Lavagetto his first year up. This year Reese will be commanded to give directions—out loud.

New Braunfels, Tex.—Wes Ferrell flunked his first pitching test with the Boston Bees, but was included among ten pitchers Manager Casey Stengel will take to Monterey, Mexico, this week-end to face the St. Louis Browns. Ferrell gave five runs on six hits and four walks in three innings against the Brown yesterday.

Miami Beach, Fla.—The Phillies were ordered out for a long drill today before opening their major league exhibition program against the New York Giants Friday. They needed it too—as shown by nine errors in yesterday's intra-club game.

Miami, Fla.—Bill Terry brought his New York Giants back by bus from Orlando last night instead of making the seven-hour trip today.

Thus the club will have an extra day of practice before resuming exhibition activities. Burgess Whitehead was left behind to recover from a sore throat.

Heffner Is Out

San Antonio, Tex. — Johnny Lucadello, who did a grand job at second base in the St. Louis Browns' 9-1 defeat of the Boston Bees yesterday, apparently is going to have plenty of opportunity to prove himself. Don Heffner, the regular custodian, may be out of action for a week or ten days with the broken nose he suffered in practice.

Sarasota, Fla.—There was some question about what condition Catcher Ernie Lombardi would be in when he ended his holdout and showed up at the camp of the Cincinnati Reds. But his pal, Eddie Joost, described it like this:

"He puts on a uniform, he grabs a bat, steps up to the plate, hits three pitches on a line to the outfield, and says, 'Well, I'm ready.' And he is!"

Bradenton, Fla.—Ernie Bonham, the young pitcher who kept the New York Yankees in the American League race last season, is suffering from a kidney ailment. His condition was revealed upon the arrival of President Ed Barrow and although it was not considered serious, Bonham was told to take things easy for a while.

Rowe's Five Beats Schwenks, 45 to 31

Chadwick Scores 20 Points as Woodstock Wins

Rowe's Five, behind the high scoring of Bill Strubel and Jack Purvis, scored an impressive 45 to 31 victory over Schwenks last night in the City Basketball League. Woodstock, in the other loop contest, defeated Mary's cagers by 53 to 31.

Strubel, the captain of this year's Kingston High School cagers, led the asault with 11 points for Rowes. His teammate, Purvis, dropped in 10. Van Buren sparked the losers with 10.

Taking an easy 28 to 6 lead in the first half Woodstock rolled over the Mary's quintet in no uncertain fashion. Chadwick applied the necessary scoring power for the winners with 20. Finneran and Denno followed with 13 and 12. Storms scored 11 for the losing cagers.

The scores:

Rowes (45)—Kelse 8, Strubel 11, Every 6, B. Purvis 6, Clark 4, J. Purvis 10. Schwenks (31)—Schoonmaker 6, Allen 8, Van Buren 10, Norton 1, Rhymer 6.

Woodstock (53)—Chadwick 20, Ramas 5, Denno 12, Finneran 13, Lewis 0, Hill 3. Mary's Five (31)—King 8, Stalter 5, Storms 11, Kreppel 2, Dobie 5.

An electrically-operated pitching machine was put into action at the Cardinals' camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1. The big cage, 60 feet long and about 20 feet wide, was set up outside the regular playing field, but inside the park. The machine itself was outside the cage the balls being delivered through a hole in the heavy netting. Byron Moser, St. Louis banker, who perfected the device, was on hand to operate the machine, which enables a player to take batting practice without using extra players to shag the batted balls.

Headed for Good Season

SAM CHAPMAN

When genial Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, looks at his outfield this year he'll rejoice in the sight of Sam Chapman, youthful fly-chaser who is evpected to be one of the best stars on the A's roster and possibly in the American League. The veteran, Ty Cobb, recommended Chapman to Mack when the youth was at college. Last year Sam finished with a .276 batting average. Included in that batting average, however, Chapman smashed out 23 homers and proved to be an important cog in the team from Shibe Park.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Locail quiz contest sponsored by Hudson Coal Company of Scranton, Pa., will be held Sunday at 4 o'clock at Schenectady over radio station WGY. First of the elimination series was held last Monday at the Kingston High School. After a number of many difficult sets of questions, the period lasting until 5:30, Anne de la Vergne, Valdo Viglielmo, Lenard Rabin, Paul Bashgetoorian, Kathryn Nagy and James Carroll remained. These six contestants then broadcast over WKNY from 8 to 8:30 Monday evening in a fast and exciting quiz. The radio public was asked to decide the team of three and its alternate, who will represent Kingston's schools next Sunday, March 16.

The Kingston team will try to outscore the team from Rensselaer, which has remained for four successive Sundays. If Kingston's representatives win, each will receive $10 and a chance to appear the following week. If they lose, each will receive five dollars, but will be eliminated from further competition in the contests.

The final contestants, all students of Kingston High School, to appear Sunday from 4 to 4:30 on WGY on the program, the "Little Red Schoolhouse," are Kathryn Nagy, Leonard Rabin and Paul Beshgetoorian. Valdo Viglielmo will act as alternate.

Hi-Y Sponsors Lecture

James R. Young, noted lecturer, will speak in the High School Auditorium on Friday evening, March 21, under the auspices of the local chapter of Hi-Y.

His topic for the evening will be "Japan-Russia-United States." Mr. Young's many experiences in the Far East make him an ideal lecturer on the subject of Oriental politics.

The tickets for this lecture may be purchased from any member of the Hi-Y. The proceeds will go toward the fund for another try to Washington, D. C., for the club.

Indian Dances

A program of real Indian dances was presented Tuesday in the high school auditorium by Reginald and Gladys Saubin. This entertainment was sponsored by the school's Prisma organization for the purpose of raising sufficient money to carry out its usual program.

The hospitality committee of Prisma acted as ushers. This committee was comprised of the following members: Rose Abernathy, Ann Netter, Patricia Matthews, Glory Post, Jeanne Brigham, Babette Forst, Florence Jacobson, Marion Finklestine and Frances Barnhart. Mrs. McNelis of the faculty is in charge of this hospitality committee.

Junior Class Spring Hop

At the Junior Class meeting held on Monday of this week, the members voted to hold an informal spring hop at M. J. M. School on April 4. President Connelly of the Junior Class with a group of active Juniors, is formulating plans that are expected to result in a most successful social affair.

Tickets, which are priced nominally went on sale Wednesday. Dancing in the gym of M. J. M. will last from 9 to 12. One of the local student bands will furnish music for the occasion. Plans for decorating the gym are already being worked out by a capable committee.

The proceeds for this dance will be turned over to the radio fund for K. H. S.

Junior Class Banner

The progressive Junior Class voted for its Senior banner this past week and chose a design drawn by Ferrell McElrath. This is the first time in the history of Kingston High that the class banner was procured in the Junior year. In doing so, the members of the class hope to obtain wider use of this maroon and white insignia.

This banner was selected from a total of seven designs which were posted in the front corridor. Ferrell McElrath is a member of the Junior Class and was prominent in the recent Junior popularity contest.

Flat Feet

Hank Greenberg, high-powered and high-priced outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, leaves the office of a doctor in Lakeland, Fla., where a draft board physical examination disclosed officially that Hank has flat feet. It'll be up to his local Detroit board to decide whether this will prevent Hank from becoming a soldier.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, March 13—Definite arrangements have been made to hold the dance, celebrating the second anniversary of the Woodstock N.Y.A. at the textile building instead of at the headquarters where dances are regularly held, Friday evening.

The Sunday evening service will be in the Lutheran Church. The speaker has not as yet been determined.

The Bloomington Christian Endeavor attended a dartball game here Monday evening. They played the Reformed C. E. of Woodstock. Bloomington won all three of the games.

"Fred Haney figures me another DiMaggio because I came from San Francisco," jested Outfielder Walt Judnich, reporting at the Browns' camp, February 27. "I am under pressure all the time. I must be better than Joe or Mr. Haney looks pained. Coach Hofmann is supposed to make me better than Joe and my miseries are his miseries, my failures are his failures. Coming from DiMaggio's town is a handicap. I should have been born in Oakland."

Pitcher Nick Strincevich was the Bees' first casualty at the San Antonio, Tex., camp. A blistered heel became infected when he wore green stockings at a practice session, February 26. However, under the ministrations of Doc May, trainer, Nick was labeled "ready for duty" 48 hours before it was thought he could resume work.

On their idle afternoons and evenings, rookies of the Washington Senators have been attending the Central Florida Fair at Orlando.

Joe Louis Has New TrainingCamp Site

Works for Simon Bout in Ring on Dance Floor

Detroit, March 13 (AP)—Fight training was never like this until Joe Louis returned to his home town to prepare for his 15th heavyweight title defense March 21 against big Abe Simon.

That's the testimony of Jack Blackburn, Louis' shrewd trainer, who gazes incredibly at the swanky training quarters and sighs reverently, "those boys in my day wouldn't believe it if they saw it."

The Louis training ring is pitched front and center on the slickest dance floor in Detroit's Harlem. Each day the 27-year-old champion, who sprang from a $5 a day job to the high income tax brackets, commutes 80 miles from his dude ranch at Utica, Mich., to appear in the air conditioned surroundings of Dance Paradise, an up-to-the-minute jitterbug joint.

Louis is training in methopolitan Detroit for the first time in his professional career. He worked in suburban Northville in 1939 before he stopped Bob Pastor in 11 rounds in his first home town title defense.

Meanwhile the 250-pound Simon is training in a comparatively quiet downtown gymnasium—quiet because his voluble manager, James Joy Johnston, is concentrating his verbal dynamite on the Bob Pastor-Turkey Thompson fight at Los Angeles.

Mike Naymick, tall pitching recruit in the camp of the Indians, had his right wrist injured when he fell on the ice at his home three weeks earlier, X-rayed by Dr. Edward Castle, club physician, February 26. The plates showed nothing wrong with the wrist and Naymick can start cutting loose as soon as he desires.

Official Thermometer Shows 10 Degrees

The coldest weather so far experienced this month gripped the city during the early morning hours with the official city thermometer recording a low of 10 degrees. It is interesting to recall that on March 13, 1940, the thermometer also recorded a low of 10 degrees.

The city engineer's records also show that during March, 1940, there was a total snowfall of 7½ inches as compared with the 15-inch snowfall so far recorded for this month.

The lowest temperature recorded yesterday was 28 degrees that morning with a high of 40 degrees that afternoon.

Toward night the temperature began dropping until it touched the low of 10 degrees recorded.

Army Swindle Revived

Revival of a swindle worked in the World War failed when tried on the Gisborne, New Zealand, mother of a soldier serving in Egypt. She received a cabled appeal for $100. Feeling certain that her son would not ask for such a large amount, knowing the family circumstances, she sent him a cabled query. Promptly came the reply: "Don't send the money." The Egyptian address from which the message came did not coincide with the despatch point of the first message.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

School No. 6

A lesson in good citizenship was dramatically taught by the two Junior American Citizen Clubs of the sixth and seventh grades of School No. 6 Tuesday afternoon at the March meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the school.

The George Washington Club gave the first part of the program which consisted of the following numbers:

Pledge to the Flag
The Club's Prayer
The Junior American Creed—Given by the officers and color bearers: Alice Ruzzo, Charles Jennings, Robert Wolfersteig, Stuart Smedes, Sheila Carey
Reading—History of the Flag .... Claire Lax
Recitation—Our Flag ..... Alice Dimmick

The Daniel Boone Club produced an instructive skit entitled, "The Melting Pot." the characters were:

Columbia .....Helen Donaldson
Swedish boy .....Robert Herlihy
Irish girl .. .. ..Shirley Freer
Hebrew boy .....Martin Gruberg
French girl .....Roseann Crosby
Dutch boy .....Frank Ebelheiser
Italian girl .....Rheta Stout
Spanish boy ....Harry Weinrach
American girl .....Helen Leotta
American boy ....Joseph Collins
Flag bearer .....Leonard Sickler

The music was played by Gertrude Donaldson.

At the business meeting a committee was appointed to revise the by-laws of the local unit and report at the April meeting.

Friday, May 2, was selected as the date for holding the annual food sale. Mrs. Hayes asked the mothers to cooperate with her in having a spring rummage sale for the benefit of the lunch room.

Miss Dean thanked the members of the cast who gave the skit over the radio station WKNY on February 22.

The next regular meeting of the association will be held on the afternoon of April 8.

Funeral Services Held for Halloran At St. Mary's Today

The burial of James V. Halloran, prominent funeral director and civic leader, of 44 Broadway, who died here early last Tuesday morning, took place this morning in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, following a solemn high Mass of requiem celebrated for the repose of his soul in St. Mary's Church.

The Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, pastor of St. Mary's Church, was the celebrant of the Mass. Father Drury was assisted by the Rev. Peter J. Fox and the Rev. Joseph C. Connor, as deacon and sub-deacon respectively. The men's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono, organist, chanted the Gregorian responses during the Mass. Thomas Dolan was the soloist.

The rites were attended by countless numbers of people who crowded St. Mary's Church, people from all walks of life, were in attendance at the services; many people who in days past received the wise, friendly and kind ministration of Mr. Halloran, when they suffered the pangs of bereavement.

Always regarded by scores of people who were his friends, as charitable and considerate, the number present at the funeral this morning and the constant stream of callers at his home during the time his body reposed there, bore fitting testimony of the affection that was held for him.

Flowers and Mass cards numbering many dozens were received in honor of his memory from relatives, associates and friends.

Present in the chancel during the Mass were the Rev. Thomas O'Hara; the Rev. Austin Carey, the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen and the Rev. Michael Larkin.

The final absolution at the grave was pronounced by the Rev. Michael Larkin, assisted by Dean Drury, the Rev. William H. Kennedy and Fathers Fox and Carey.

Long an active member of Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus, large numbers of members of that organization called at the Halloran home on Wednesday evening and under the direction of the chaplain of the council, the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen, recited the Rosary for the repose of his soul.

The Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church, a society that Mr. Halloran took great pride in, also called at his home and knelt in the recitation of the Rosary that was said by the Rev. Joseph Connor.

Many of his fellow practitioners from the county and from other parts called to offer their sympathies to his bereaved family.

Various funeral supply manufacturers sent representatives to attend the funeral.

The casket bearers, all close friends of Mr. Halloran, were: Sam N. Mann, John Costello, John Finn, John Schatzel, Michael Augustine and Casper Ketterer.

Honorary bearers, all funeral directors from this section, were: Henry J. Bruck, Arthur G. Carr, W. N. Conner, Joseph F. Deegan, Joseph L. Keenan, W. Kenneth Kukuk, Richard McCutcheon and James M. Murphy.

Modern Efficiency Helps Baby—Gives Mother Recreation Time

By FRANCES PECK

MOTHERS HAVE in times past given up some of their activities outside the home when the care of a baby was added to their responsibilities. But now that doctors are putting the babies on schedules which regulate their eating, sleeping and playing times a mother is more sure of when she can be free to leave the child in another person's care. She takes care of her homemaking duties with greater speed and dispatch and has time for recreation—in turn, she is a happier and healthier mother who can do her work better, and the child develops good living habits at a very early age.

Another important help in providing more leisure time for a mother is the practice of dovetailing the schedules of the home and the child. Though the baby's feeding times must follow a definite routine every few hours, nap times can frequently be arranged to coincide with some important household task that takes your full attention. Baths can be fitted in just before the morning or early evening feeding, when you must give all your time to the baby anyway. And you can easily combine the daily marketing trip with baby's airing in one outing that is a pleasant change for both of you.

Feeding takes less time if the formula is prepared in advance. Make up the entire day's food supply in the morning or the night before, tucking it away in the refrigerator already poured into sterile bottles, stopping them up with boiled corks. Thus you have to get out the sterilizing equipment only once during the day. All you have to do when feeding time rolls around is place a sterile nipple on the bottle you are going to use and heat it to feeding temperature in hot water.

At the age of from four to six months, when the doctor prescribes giving your baby strained cereals, fruits and vegetables, you can save yourself the tedious job of cooking and straining if you use modern prepared strained foods that come in cans. These prepared strained foods are known to have a very high quality, since they are prepared at the peak of their perfection in special kitchens. Also, they are cooked in the absence of air to assure the highest possible retention of health-giving vitamins and minerals. And for even greater convenience, these foods are packed in tiny (4½-oz.) cans which hold about as much as the baby eats when he is getting his maximum servings. All one has to do to these foods is heat them to the proper serving temperature.

Other members of the family can relieve you of the care of the young child on many occasions. With the formula made up, it is a simple matter for an older brother or sister or the father to give the baby his bottle. The prepared strained foods as well make it easy for you to have someone else give the baby his meals. So be sure to leave the baby at home with another member of the family while you have a grand afternoon to do anything you wish.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Albert Ward of Port Ewen were held Wednesday afternoon at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 291 Fair street. The Rev. Robert Baines officiated. Burial was in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Highland, March 13 — John Scheer died Tuesday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gideon W. Tompkins, Wilcox avenue. Mr. Scheer was born in Germany 84 years ago and for 60 years has been in this country. During his residence in New York city he conducted an ice business. He later purchased a farm at Plattekill which he sold 12 years ago and came to Highland to live. Mrs. Scheer died in 1934. He was an honorary member of the Highland Hose Co. Surviving are three sons, Otto and William Scheer, New York, and John Scheer of Plattekill, and one daughter, Mrs. Tompkins. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from the home of his daughter. The rites will be conducted by the Rev. Devello S. Haynes, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and burial will be in the Highland cemetery. The bearers will be members of the hose company.

Willis O. Polhamus, 79, retired fruit farmer, died Wednesday morning in his home on Bingham street, West Marlborough. He had been in failing health for several years. Born in Esopus on August 17, 1861, a son of the late Eldred N., and Clara A. Relyea Polhamus, he had lived in West Marlborough for 33 years. He formerly lived in Middle Hope for several years, and was a member of the Middle Hope Methodist Church. Mr. Polhamus is survived by his widow, Martha Schoonmaker Polhamus, six sons, Jesse of Hopewell Junction; Eugene of Middle Hope; Irving of Newburgh; Earl of Wallkill; Oliver at home, and Clarence Polhamus of Washington; four daughters, Mrs. Howard Cosman of Marlborough; Mrs. John Steffens of Newburgh, and Mrs. Ernest Melhuish and Mrs. Fred Wygant of Modena, also 18 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Funeral services on Friday at 2 p. m. in the home will be conducted by the Rev. Alan T. Dodge. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all our relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during the illness and death of our father, Mr. Ernest W. Ahrens, and also the U. S. Lace Curtain Mill and relatives and friends for the beautiful floral tributes.

Large Output of Airplanes May Be Expected Shortly

A check-up of the airplane industry indicates that the period of expansion is nearing completion and that the start of large-scale output can be expected in the near future. It is probable that deliveries this year will at least double and may be three times the 1940 estimated total of 625. It is stated that a group of seven major manufacturers of airplanes and engines had total deliveries of between 65 and 70 million dollars a month in January and February, whereas in January last year total for the whole industry was around 30 million dollars.

Prices are advancing and although the rise generally has been small it is likely to gain momentum by fall. Among products already showing higher prices are shoes, clothing, furniture, kitchenware, hardware, office supplies, building material and foods, especially meats. Factors back of the rise and others to follow are increased taxes; higher operating costs, including wage rates; effects of the defense program and difficulty in obtaining deliveries. In cases of some products retail prices are still not much above the 1940 levels, although in others there has been a considerable advance.

A further rise in the price of refined sugar was a feature of the commodity market Wednesday as large refiners in the eastern market announced a ten-point advance to a basis level of 4.85 cents a pound, making a raise of 40 points in the past two weeks, to the highest level since the fall of 1939. Raw sugar also advanced and sales of 14,000 tons of raw were said to have cleared the market of available supplies at 3.25 cents. Wheat and cotton turned easier, wheat closing ⅞ to 1⅛ cent a bushel lower at Chicago, while cotton was one point higher to six lower.

Prices on the Stock Exchange worked lower during the day and the Dow-Jones averages showed small losses at the close. The industrial average had a loss of .08 for the day, closing at 123.19. Rails were off .04, to 27.96, while utilities again had a negligible rise, being up .01, to 19.59. Utilities have shown a rise for the last seven sessions, but the total gain has been less than half a point. Volume was lower Wednesday, total being 461,000 shares against 510,000 Tuesday.

U. S. Steel maintained the lead among the actives, losing ½ point in turnover of 16,300 shares, labor difficulties being a factor.

American Locomotive, which at present has a backlog of $138,300,000, reports net earnings in 1940 of $2,850,913, as against a loss in 1939 of $950,376. Chairman Dickerman said that the dividend situation was being studied for some plan by which accumulated dividends of $42.75 a share on seven per cent preferred stock may be liquidated.

It Happens to all of Us

Independence, Kas. (AP)—District Judge J. W. Holdren was breezing along on the road from Coffeyville and passed a man walking and carrying a gasoline can. "Rather silly for a man to run out of gas when he has a gauge right in front of him, eh?" said the judge to his passenger. A mile farther on the judge's car fizzled and died. Out of gas. He started walking to a filling station but a fellow in another car drove up and offered to push the judge's stalled one. At the station the judge thanked the friendly driver and told him about the remark he had made when he had seen the fellow walking with the gas can. "Yeh," said the friendly fellow. "I was the man who looked so silly to you."

British soldiers in Africa consume more water than their Italian counterparts, having never been trained down to the level of half a litre daily, the customary allowance for seasoned desert troops.

New York, March 13 (AP)—Shipbuilding and specialty stocks commanded modest buying power in today's market but a large assortment of leaders failed to make headway.

Selling dried up at the start and bids for favorites helped stabilize trends. Prices were a shade uneven near the final hour although weakness was a rarity. Activity slackened after the opening and transfers for the full proceedings were at the rate of approximately 350,000 shares.

The majority of import commodity futures pointed higher. Bonds steadied after a little initial irregularity.

Among the better acting shares were N. Y. Shipbuilding, Bath Iron Works, Newport News Shipbuilding, Continental Baking "A", United Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, International Nickel, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Montgomery Ward and Standard Oil of N. J.

Inclined to falter were Bethlehem, Chrysler, American Telephone, American Smelting, du Pont, Sears Roebuck and Johns-Manville.

In the curb support was accorded Brewster Aero, Humble Oil, Sherwin Williams, Montgomery Ward "A" and Todd Shipyards.

Owls Blind in Dark

Blackout experiments in London have proved, contrary to the popular theory, that owls do not see in the dark. Scientists making the tests also proved fallacious the theory that owls' eyes perceive the infra-red rays thrown off by warm bodies of animals, enabling them to see prey in the dark. Owls were placed under anaesthetic and electrical apparatus was connected with the eye nerves. The birds failed to register infra-red radiation, but when tested with electric lamps they recorded visible light.

GRANGE NEWS

Stone Ridge Grange

The first March meeting of Stone Ridge Grange was held Monday evening, March 3, and was well attended. Four members from Patroon Grange of Accord were present. A portion of the lecturer's hour was open to the public and Mr. Waldon of the local draft board gave an instructive address. He explained in detail the working of the board, after which he answered a number of questions. After the close of the Grange, an hour of dancing was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held on Monday evening, March 17, and the worthy lecturer, Sister VanDerBergh, has arranged a fine program, part of which will be "The Cavalcade of America Recordings," followed by a quiz on the Constitution. At this meeting Worthy State Deputy Harold V. Story will make an official visit and address the Grange. A large attendance is requested.

On Thursday evening, March 20, at 8 o'clock in the Grange Hall, members of Stone Ridge Grange will present "An Old Time Vaudeville Show," and the public is invited to attend. Fifteen different solos, choruses, skits, novelties and specialties will be given. Many well known amateur entertainers from Stone Ridge and vicinity will appear in this show.

Resolution Is Passed

Albany, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—A resolution terming the proposed St. Lawrence seaway "highly unwarranted" and voicing opposition of New York's legislature to the development passed the assembly today and went to the senate.

To Teach First Aid

As a part of the local national defense program a class in first aid will be held this evening at the city hall when some 75 men and women from various organizations and industrial concerns will be instructed in the art. The class which will hold regular courses is being arranged by Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, and he will be assisted by some of the first aid experts of the New York Telephone Company. Registration in the class is closed and no further applicants will be considered.

Towel-A-Day

Blackwell, Okla. (AP)—As a hobby Mrs. O. A. Boyles makes dish towels. She started in 1931 and now has 1,130, all of different designs. She tries to make one each day, except Sunday.

Group Decides on Festival As Hudson Valley Affair

Event Centered in Ulster to Be Fourth Annual Observance of Spring Blossom Season

An apple blossom festival will be held in Ulster county this year, making the fourth year that the county has paid tribute to one of its outstanding industries, it was announced last night after a meeting of business men and citizens at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

It also was decided to ask the counties who participated last year to take part in the 1941 celebration, again making it a Hudson Valley Festival.

Mayor Heiselman, who has been urging a continuance of the celebration was unable to be present last night and Henry R. Bright, general chairman last year was kept in Albany on business. He had expressed himself as favorable to the proposition in the event a guarantee of sufficient money to finance the affair could be had. Last year there was a deficit of upward of $200 at the close of the festival.

It has been estimated that about $1,000 is needed to stage the affair and one of the business men present last night expressed the opinion that the amount could be secured without too much difficulty.

Albert Kurdt, farm bureau manager, who has been general secretary of the celebrations in past years, was named chairman of a temporary committee to organize the 1941 festival. The committee is to meet Tuesday of next week and at once take up the matter of naming the various committees and making other plans.

Memebrs of the temporary committee are: Albert Kurdt, Mayor C. J. Heiselman, Henry R. Bright, Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, Mrs. William T. Hookey, E. M. Huben, C. Z. Rogers of Marlborough, Ulster county chairman last year and Burton S. Davis.

Carl Eric Lindin of Woodstock, present at the meeting, stressed the desirability of having a festival this year, particularly because of the war-torn condition of the world and the anxiety prevalent in this country as every energy is bent toward the production of war material. He held that it was a good idea to place emphasis on spring and the coming of the apple blossoms as a symbol of hope.

KNOW YOUR MONEY

And Avoid Loss Due to Counterfeits

HOW TO DETECT COUNTERFEIT COINS

1. KNOW YOUR MONEY!
2. RING all coins on a hard surface. Genuine coins sound clear and bell-like. Counterfeits sound dull.
3. FEEL all coins. Most counterfeit coins feel greasy.
4. COMPARE the reeding (the corrugated outer edge) of a suspected coin with one known to be genuine. The ridges on genuine coins are distinct and evenly spaced. On counterfeit coins they are poorly spaced and irregular.

HOW TO CASH GOVERNMENT CHECKS

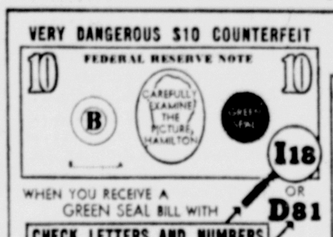

1. KNOW YOUR ENDORSERS!
2. DEMAND definite identification of the payee.
3. COMPARE endorsement on check with signature on identification.
4. WPA workers carry cards with identification number, signature and physical description. If you cash WPA checks, compare these three things and make sure the description fits that of the person presenting the check.
5. BE CAUTIOUS about cashing a check on which the payee's address is far removed from your place of business.
6. REMEMBER—You may lose the amount of any Government check which has not been endorsed by the rightful payee.
7. MAKE A CHECK BEFORE YOU TAKE A CHECK!!

Orange County Has Had Reported 111 Rabid Canines

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, in reply to questions said this morning that there were no new developments in the quarantine for rabies among dogs in Kingston, and that no new cases of the disease had been found.

According to the Newburgh News where a rabies quarantine has been in force since 1938, there had been 111 cases of rabid dogs from June of that year until the present time. Of that number 47 were in Newburgh, city and town.

In 1940 and thus far in 1941, there have been 24 rabies cases in the city and town of Newburgh—23 of which have been in the last eight months.

The dog census taken by the Newburgh police this year shows 2,025 dogs owned in that city.

In 1940 there were 111 arrests in Newburgh for violations of the rabies quarantine, and two recent offenders were fined $25 each upon their second arrest for similar offenses.
